Flier Falls Into Nursery In Nose Dive

Robert Villa, Who Had Been Student Aviator, Takes a Plane at Durant Field Without Permit; Through Roof

Machine and Building Are Wrecked in Crash, But the Birdman Escapes With Some Few Minor Injuries

Flying less than 100 feet from the ground, Robert Villa, student aviator, in one of the airplanes from the Durant Flying Field, made a nosedive of his plane and fell in a nose dive on the roof of a nursery owned by A. G. Gardner near Eighty-fourth Avenue and G street.

The aviator leaped from his falling plane just before it crashed through the glass roof of the nursery. The airplane and the small nursery are wrecked.

Villa was hurt seriously enough to demand a bandage over his ribs and several inches of plaster on his face.

LUCKLESS BIRDMAN WISHES HE WAS DEAD.

"I wish I had been killed," he said when he returned to the field following the accident.

It is said that Villa, who had been a student flier, had been employed as a watchman while it was decided that he would learn to be an aviator. A small boy, he suggested that he take a flight this morning and the trip was decided upon the spur of the moment.

Others at Durant Field were getting ready to fly in Villa's pursuit when the accident took place.

At the Durant field and in the offices of the company information concerning the accident was refused.

PLANE IS MADE WITHOUT PERMISSION.

The man flying took the plane without permission, it was said at the offices of the Durant company, where no further information would be given out. The accident created a great deal of excitement on East Fourteenth street, as the impact of falling plane on the timbers and glass that roof caused a loud report that could be heard for blocks. The crowd that rushed to the place thinking to see the pilot crushed and dead were surprised when he walked away. The plane, however, was battered and twisted almost beyond recognition and the nursery will have to be entirely rebuilt.

The airplane, it is said, was the personal property of Cliff Duran.

Australia To Use Air Mail Service

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Aug. 4 (reuter)—The Australian postal department intends to install wireless and airplane mail service to the now accessible portions of country north and northwestern Australia and to the other islands controlled by the commonwealth just as soon as it is possible to obtain material from overseas, postal officials have announced.

The Geraldton-Derby route in West Australia has been selected for the first airplane mail service experiment. There are now extremely long flying trips on this route and the considerable danger of accidents.

It is planned to establish directional wireless stations to keep in touch with the airplanes at all times. This system has been used satisfactorily.

Cost of producing dyes in the United States is from two to three times the German selling prices prior to the war.

2000 Hungarians Battle Bavarians

VIENNA, Sept. 7.—Fresh fighting between Hungarian regular troops and a force of about 2000 Hungarians near the border village of Kirschlag, was reported here today. Determined attacks by an irregular Hungarian force were reported to have been repulsed with slight casualties to the defenders.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—War clouds over Central Europe grow blacker today. An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Vienna said that the Austrian government has despatched an ultimatum to Budapest, threatening to break off all diplomatic relations with Hungary unless the armed Hungarian forces retire from Austrian soil and from the territory in West Hungary that was promised to Austria under the Trianon treaty.

Paderewski Ranch To Be Auctioned

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—The ranch owned by Ignace Paderewski, famed pianist and former premier of Poland, located at Rancho Robles, will be auctioned tomorrow. The land, valued at approximately a quarter million dollars, comprises 2344 acres, 200 of which are cultivated to almonds and walnuts.

Resort Is Bombed; Twelve Badly Hurt

MILAN, Sept. 7.—Ten women and two men were seriously wounded when a bomb was exploded today upon a crowded pier at the fashionable seaside resort of Varazze. Varazze is in the department of Liguria, upon the Mediterranean.

RADICALS WIN CASE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—The Bug club, an organization of radicals, won its court battle to continue its "open drum" in Washington Park, when Judge Harry Fisher issued a temporary injunction in circuit court restraining the police from interfering with the meetings.

Plane Smashes Greenhouse

How airplane from Durant Field dove into roof of East Oakland Nursery today. The plane, 100 feet from the ground, slipped into a nose dive and came down like the head of a spear. Robert Villa, student, escaped with but a few scratches, and there was no one in the greenhouse to be injured.

Independent Republic Is Denied Erin

British Cabinet's Reply to Sinn Fein's Latest Note Agrees to Peace With Ireland on Dominion Status

De Valera's Associates Say They Are Ready to Renew Negotiations; Time to Stop Love Letters, Says Journal

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

INVERNESS, Scotland, Sept. 7.—The British cabinet's reply to the Sinn Fein latest note agreed to a peace agreement with Ireland having dominion status, but adhering to the principle that Ireland shall not be allowed to separate from the British empire. This is a rejection of the Sinn Fein's demand for an independent republic.

The drafting of the English answer to the Sinn Fein note of last Thursday was completed during the afternoon session of the cabinet.

King George, who is at Moy Hall, not far from Inverness, was notified of the cabinet's decision.

R. C. Barton, Sinn Fein courier, who has been at Inverness since the Sinn Fein note was delivered to Premier Lloyd George last week, was summoned to the town hall, where the British cabinet was assembled at 10 o'clock. He took a train, leaving shortly after 6 o'clock with the reply.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

DUBLIN, Sept. 7.—The Sinn Fein will enter a peace conference with the English government regardless of whether the British recognize the Irish republic, it was announced this afternoon by responsible Republican leaders.

Irish leaders apparently were anxious to dispel the British belief that recognition of the republic must precede any further direct negotiations between the Sinn Fein and the English government.

Neither Eamonn de Valera nor the Sinn Fein cabinet intend that the English government should recognize the Irish republic until certain steps are taken, the International News Service was told by one Sinn Fein chieftain.

"But we wish to approach the conversations unfettered. We do not wish to be restricted."

Everyone here recognizes that the Sinn Fein's fate hangs in the balance as the English cabinet is meeting at Inverness. The decision of the government is being awaited with the greatest anxiety.

The keynote of the general sentiment was sounded by the Freeman's Journal, which said:

"More can be done in half an hour's direct talk than in reams of writing."

"This writing of love letters should cease," said the Freeman's Journal in commenting today upon the peaceable exchanges between Eamonn de Valera and Premier Lloyd George.

"A few hours' plain talk, we feel confident, would clear up the whole matter."

WORK TO START ON MANY LARGE BUILDINGS HERE

Construction Under Way on Title and Insurance Block and Durant Co.'s Plant.

Dozens of large constructive jobs will be started in Oakland within the next few weeks, according to reports made to the Building Trades Council. Men are being placed as fast as possible with hundreds added to the list each day, and despite the fact that the present week was cut up with two holiday stops, has been taken for a large number of projects.

Work began today on the new title and insurance company building at Fifteenth and Franklin streets, and construction is already under way at the Durant Motor company's plant.

Progress in the resumption of construction work all down the line was the keynote of the reports and discussions at the regular meeting of the Building Trades Council last night at the Labor Temple.

DUTY TO CLEAN HOUSES

"This is the time when every member of a trades union needs to use his best judgment and to avoid radicalism," said M. J. McDonough, president of the council. "The troubles that have fallen upon us are those which could hardly be avoided during the excitement and stress of war. But now that we can easily review the situation and are in a position to remove all elements closely associated with the building trades it is our duty to begin within our ranks and clean our own house."

"It is up to labor now to work out its own salvation. Our men are returning to work as fast as they can be placed and I will say that on all sides there is a desire to solve all points of difference in a spirit of brotherhood, harmony and construction is already under way on the Durant Motors company plant. At least a dozen other large jobs will be begun within a month, while all over the city there is a call for men to work on the many dwellings that are going up and that will start at once."

The new "fraternal delegate" from the Building Labor Council, M. W. Loring, has said, and construction is already under way on the Durant Motors company plant. At least a dozen other large jobs will be begun within a month, while all over the city there is a call for men to work on the many dwellings that are going up and that will start at once."

LITTLE ANTAGONISM

F. H. Pratt, secretary, said that in his many meetings with employers there was but very little antagonism toward organized labor, but there is much antagonism between the two sides that developed some weeks ago when it appeared that there were two distinct bodies, each claiming to be representative of the Building Trades Council.

"We all realize that this country is on the eve of a wonderful constructive period," said Pratt, "and labor intends to help the good work along. We must work together and give each other credit for working satisfactorily for the common good. The employers are also seeing the light. They are no more anxious for trouble than we are. If we all use our common sense we will start right away on the best times this district has ever known."

Business Agent S. J. Donahue reported on the condition of the building operations and said that if this

De Valera Says Force Will Not Bring Peace

DUBLIN, Sept. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Eamon de Valera, the Irish Republican leader, in a statement to the press attested to the British imperial statement as trying to sell Ireland second rate political autonomy, and as an attempt to force Irishmen to accept them and Ireland too weak to resist successfully. That is the naked truth.

"Ireland wants butter. She will not be deceived into thinking she has it until she sees it actually delivered."

De Valera's statement follows:

"England has no basis in right for a single demand she is making on Ireland. She would not dare make them to a power even nearly as strong as herself. They are made to us simply because it is felt great political advantage to do so, to force them and Ireland too weak to resist successfully. That is the naked truth."

"For peace secured in these circumstances no one would have the slightest respect; certainly no Irishman would feel bound by any arrangement thus arrived at."

INTERESTS ARE COMMON.

"With this background of impossibility of force, the press would surely be the outcome, Ireland and Great Britain are neighbors. The natural forces of mutual interest and common purposes would have brought these two peoples together long ago as real friends, in voluntary co-operation, and not as enemies and opponents with their own artificial contrivances imposed insuperable barriers, which the British government's proposal seek to continue and perpetuate."

"The Irish people know that the article pointed out in the shop as the article being sold is 'very safe' to receive into thinking they have got it until they see it actually delivered. The English press acts like a will to peace. Yes, we have—what we could have disrupted their empire. Wisely for the empire they let very well be."

"WOULD END CAMOUFLAGE."

"It is for that very reason that we would be no Irish problem today and Ireland would have been saved a century and a quarter of misery and Great Britain a century and a quarter of shame."

"PROGRESS MUST BE SCRAPPED."

"England is issuing an ultimatum, let it be an ultimatum."

"Brute force, naked and unashamed, has been used against small nations before. Our nation has known it for long. Even our little children have experienced it, and no pretense will hide the threat of force; it is best recognized for what it is."

College Women Club Gives First Program

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—The College Women's club presented the first program of the season in Town and Gown club house this afternoon, following a brief business session presided over by Mrs. George E. Carlson, president; Mrs. Walter A. Carlson, reader; Mrs. George Davis, director; James H. Soer, vocal; Miss Grace Becker, cello; Mrs. Jane Rolph Bestette, piano, contributed the numbers. The program was arranged by the music section of which Mrs. Rita Marie Chapman presided.

they had Gardner cornered in a wood tract. Special guards were placed along the edges of this tract and other guards patrolled back and forth through the brush.

As noiseless as possible, proceeding as noiselessly as possible, nearly came together in the thicket. Both patrols were about to open fire when they recognized each other.

A prison library ticket found on a road a considerable distance from the prison made the guards believe that Gardner slipped through the corridor.

S. F. Autoist's Tip Opens Seattle Hunt

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 7.—Police are hunting for Roy Gardner in this city, following a report by a salesman giving the name of Lloyd L. Harris, 2131 Pacific avenue, San Francisco, who says he picked up Gardner the night before between Tacoma and Seattle last night and brought him to this city. The man was dressed in brown pants and a flannel shirt and carried a small parcel. When Harris reached his hotel here and saw a newspaper picture of the escaped train robber he was positive the stranger he had given a lift was Gardner.

Bandit's Wife to Move to Tacoma

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Dolly Gardner, wife of Roy Gardner, was in San Francisco today, intending to carry out her plan to move to Tacoma with her little daughter, just as she would have done had Roy remained in McNeil Island penitentiary.

"I will have to care for myself and my little girl a good long time," she said, "whether Roy gets away or not."

She said she has arrangements made to study nursing in Tacoma.

"I believe Roy swam across the channel to the mainland," Mrs. Gardner declared. She added that she was highly amused when Gardner was taken to McNeil Island to hear him tell officers he could not swim.

"He's a wonderful swimmer," she said.

Mrs. Gardner was plainly pleased at the apparent attitude of the public toward her husband's escapades.

"Every one tells me they hope he gets away," she said, smiling. "I don't think that if he would earn freedom by good conduct and not by breaking away, he would settle down and be a good citizen. I know he would. But I'm his wife and you bet I wish Roy all sorts of luck."

Hiding in Tacoma, Officials Believe

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

SEATTLE, Sept. 7.—Neither police, federal agents or the sheriff's office here has any clue which might result in the capture of Roy Gardner, thrice escaped train robber. But at least one-tenth of the residents along the shores of Puget Sound have seen "Gardner." They are positive, because they recognize his features by pictures in the newspapers.

All Seattle authorities are keeping a sharp lookout on all avenues of entry to this city, but police believe the bandit is in hiding, possibly in Tacoma, and will not move for several weeks.

Lengthy Stay on Island Is Possible

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

MCNEIL ISLAND PENITENTIARY, Wash., Sept. 7.—Prison officials realize that Roy Gardner, escaped bandit, if unwounded, may hide for a long time on the island, which is thoroughly wild and covered with an impenetrable growth in places. It is also certain that many people sympathetic with him and would be willing to offer him aid.

Warden Maloney and his men realize they have little chance to capture Gardner by beating the brush. They will continue to guard the beaches and boats in an effort to prevent his escape to the mainland until there is definite information that he is no longer on the island.

Every available man on the island was out all last night, guarding the beaches and boats to prevent Gardner from reaching the mainland. At least fifty men were engaged in this work. In addition, launches patrolled the water surrounding the island.

Saint Paul Declared Great Psychologist

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—Saint Paul was designated as the great psychologist of all time by Dr. John Cowper Powys, English philosopher and poet in the opening of a series of addresses last night in Wheeler hall.

"As a psycho-analytic interpreter of human life Saint Paul penetrated deeper into the hearts of men than the greatest psychologists of the present day," said Powys.

Intelligent wills, he declares, "to know the essence of universal truths, this irrational, somewhat morbid personality sunk his individuality in the depths of his search for knowledge of life problems. In his writings, we find a unique combination of animal, psychological and spiritual utterances, which surpass even the works of Walt Whitman in their intensity of exaltation."

"Though paradoxically cruel and sympathetic at the same time, Paul is the one character in Biblical history to whom the world owes the Christian religion."

DISARMAMENT OR NEW WAR WILL BE AWAITING NATIONS

Colorado Educator Tells Mills
Students His Ideas On Coming Conference.

Unless the Far East and naval disarmament questions are solved during the Disarmament Conference in Washington, in November, the nations will become involved in a second world war, according to Professor P. C. Palm, a member of the Colorado College faculty, addressing Mills College students.

Professor Palm denied that "the Washington conference would be an association society, and that China would be carved without either ether or laughing gas," as he said many believed.

FAIR PLAY ASKED.

"We as Americans know we have friends, and we wish to regard the rights of the Pacific and settle them fairly. Canada and Australia understand our point of view," he said. "If we can bring about successful agreement and discussion, we shall go a long way in diplomacy."

Following the shooting Burns was taken to the hospital where it was discovered that both his legs were shattered. He told police he resided at the Montreal House, and the identification bureau in today checked up his record.

Burns entered the soft drink saloon of H. H. Trials shortly before midnight last night and with a drawn pistol ordered Ricks, Schulkin and Frank Meyer, 752 Howard street, a customer, to throw up their hands. Ricks recognized the man and thought him joking.

"What's this? Play?" demanded the proprietor with a grin. "A joke?" "No, it ain't a joke," snarled the gunman. "Stick up your hands quick."

The trio apparently did not obey fast enough and Burns emphasized his demand with a shot from his pistol. The bullet whizzed over the heads of the three men and they backed into a rear room.

As soon as they were in the rear room, the deputy sheriff whipped out his pistol and from behind a door behind him, shot at Burns. At the first shot the bullet fell to the floor. Schulkin fired four shot in all, two of which took effect. After being knocked down by the first bullet, Burns fired one more shot, which hit the wall.

DISARMAMENT PLANS.

"If the agreement on naval disarmament is made, the next step will be land disarmament, which may produce an age of universal peace."

"If armaments are reduced, this Far East question solved, this will be a matter of vital importance to working men and women."

"If the ideal is obtained, our part as Americans will be an important one."

GEN. LU LOSES WHOLE ARMY OF 50,000 IN MONTH

CANTON, Aug. 6 (Delayed).—The administration may decide to place on the market $380,000,000 in car tract certificates, now held by the director-general of railroads as security for advances as soon as the market can absorb them at par. Officials today had practically agreed to follow that course, if there is any serious delay.

When Congress reconvenes in early October, the funding bill will be voted on again.

Financiers have advised the administration leaders that the security market is rapidly coming back to a 6 per cent basis.

PIGEONS TO TAKE NEWS FROM MINE WORKERS' RALLY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 7.—Carrier pigeons are to be used for disseminating news of the convention of the United Mine Workers of America here, starting Sept. 20.

Miners in Nokomis, Ill., have informed the international headquarters here of this novel method of keeping men back home informed of convention proceedings, and the officials here assert this is the first time that such use of the pigeon has been made in this country.

George Spain of Nokomis, owner of 80 homing pigeons, has offered the Nokomis delegates to the convention the use of his birds so as to enable them to send daily or hourly despatches from the convention hall back to the two local unions here. Now George Spain brought the pigeons to this country from England for racing purposes, and he will give the use of them to the convention delegates.

VIEWS VARIED ON VALUE OF MILLER AND LUX ESTATE

Squirrels, Alkali, Jack Rabbits Figure in Fight to Cut Appraisal.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—The walrus and the carpenter should have been into the story.

Their conversations would have been considered pertinent and relevant if the inheritance tax appraisal proceedings in the estate of the late Henry Miller, cattle king of three states, are any criterion.

The subject under discussion before the Chancery Harry M. Wright is, however, the tax assessment filed in 1916 by the act of Congress as $6,000,000 on the Miller and Lux properties, is correct or whether it was based on faulty valuation of the many ranches over Oregon, California and Nevada.

Miller's daughter, Nellie Nickel, and her husband, Leroy Nickel, the trustees, maintain that the assessment was made on an appraisal of $26,000,000, whereas the actual value of the property transferred to them was nearer $20,000,000.

But to listen to the case you would think that the argument hinged upon ground squirrels, alkali, jackrabbits and the price of potatoes. Red ink and stray cattle also seem to be important.

Yesterday Charles Cronin, chief witness for the trustees and former superintendent for Miller and Lux, told of the havoc wrought by squirrels and rabbits on the cattle lands and he went to a grueling cross-examination on the deteriorating condition of the alleys.

Documents relating to the original appraisal were found to contain much lower values inserted in red ink which Cronin finally admitted had been put there by the trustees' representatives. Directly afterward he gave an illuminating dissertation on the potato crops of the agency ranch in Oregon.

Today, proceeding with the case, the chancery court will hear what George J. Wren of Modesto, another witness for the trustees, has to say about cabbages and cattle kings.

Unions Plan Court War for Charters

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Orders revoking the charters of three carpenters' unions and an organization of pile drivers will be contested in the courts according to announcement of leaders of the unions affected today. In the suit will be involved money the organizations are said to have invested in various labor halls and buildings. The unions include Carpenters' 22, 483 and 1082, Pile Drivers' union and American's 105, which suspended its allowed refusal of members to sever connection with the "rank and file" conference.

PERSHING AND GOMPERS CLASH ON WAR RESULT

Army Head Resents Intimation That Labor Won Conflict.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (By the Associated Press)—General Pershing and Samuel Gompers had a tilt last night at a dinner here concluding exercises celebrating Lafayette-Maine day. At least official Washington regards it as a clash over the question of whether labor won the war.

Gompers had spoken on the afternoon program and while he made no claim that labor won the war he told the record of the American Federation of Labor during the war and declared that previous to the entry of the United States its sympathy was with the allies.

The subject under discussion before the Chancery Harry M. Wright is, however, the tax assessment filed in 1916 by the act of Congress as $6,000,000 on the Miller and Lux properties, is correct or whether it was based on faulty valuation of the many ranches over Oregon, California and Nevada.

Miller's daughter, Nellie Nickel, and her husband, Leroy Nickel, the trustees, maintain that the assessment was made on an appraisal of $26,000,000, whereas the actual value of the property transferred to them was nearer $20,000,000.

But to listen to the case you would think that the argument hinged upon ground squirrels, alkali, jackrabbits and the price of potatoes. Red ink and stray cattle also seem to be important.

N OF MAGNATE NEADS DOUGH TO SUPPORT BRIDE

pers Prefer Hardships to speration and Resumption of Family Financing.

AN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—In a last effort to save employment in a less self and better, while the bride is housed in a little bungalow by the fate of "Jimmie" Talbot, son of James A. Talbot, wealthy president of the Southwestern building company of Los Angeles, who died recently with Miss Marine Kingsland of Los Angeles, were married in San Bernadino, but kept the wedding secret, some all happened when Mrs. Talbot ed the former Miss Kingsland and the couple home in Redwood City.

While the bride was out her in-law came across the marriage certificate and right away began to happen. Katherine dragged him by her mother was kept under close watch. It was by the parents that there would be an annulment, at least Jimmie and Katherine were apart until Jimmie was of age and was well watched. His transfers save the salaries of several teachers. The persons affected agreed to it in view of the financial emergency which exists in the Oakland schools.

WORK VOLUNTARY

The persons which are now filled by substitute teachers, including five and one-half high school positions aggregating $11,400, and four elementary positions, aggregating $7,600.

Twelve educators have voluntarily agreed to take on this extra work in their other part-time or supervisory tasks. The volunteers include the following:

J. R. Franklin, assistant director boys' vocational work, salary $250; Gertude Whiston, assistant director home economics (half time), $1,200; G. L. Hensley, director of agriculture (half time), $1,425; Jessie Calder, assistant supervisor vocational arts (half time), $1,200; G. F. Pfund, supervisor physical education, $280; Beulah Laney, acting assistant supervisor music, $250; Ethel Abel, assistant supervisor drawing, $2,500; Irene Rowe, supervisor speech defects, $2,500; Eliza Martens, supervisor director department of research, $2,500; G. Rector, assistant director department of research, $2,500; G. E. Keyes, assistant director research and guidance, in charge of placement (half time), $2,570; G. L. Phillips, assistant accountant business office, $2,400. Total, $25,885.

MORE SAVINGS.

Hunter also asserted that by consolidating and reshuffling various positions, and part-time positions, another saving of $47,050 is being effected.

A letter was received from the Piedmont superintendent of schools acknowledging the debt of Piedmont to Oakland for educating the former's high school pupils while Piedmont's own high school is being built. Both cities are keeping accurate tab on the number of pupils affected as Piedmont must educate an equal number of Oakland youths later.

A complaint by Bandmaster William Mumford against his band being challenged at the Sacramento state fair by Principal J. E. Welty of Lockwood school was voiced before the board. Mumford said Welty wanted to oust his band from the musical competition because it had one youth older than 21 in it. Welty said this was sufficient reason for the Mumford band.

President Bond then ruled that the matter was outside the province of the Board of Education, and the bands could go their ways without bothering the board about it.

SCHOOL REVENUES.

TRICK ANIMALS
DAILY BESIEGE
BRITISH HOUSE

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Westminster, where the British Parliament sits, recently has assumed the appearance of the approach to some zoological garden or animal show, much to the amusement of passengers en route to dignified members of Parliament.

All can agree about through the debate in the House of Commons of a bill intended to prevent cruelty to trained animals. Aroused by charges that trainers universally employ harsh measures in teaching their animals to do tricks on the stage, the trainers have made a combined assault on Parliament. Some have been admitted to give evidence before the committee, but none has so far been countering his claims because of a bar placed by the Speaker.

This prohibition against bringing animals into Parliament has resulted in street performances usually at lunch hour.

Therefore, the kids of Westminster have rejoiced daily in watching "the drunkard dog" and "the monkey-riding chimpanzee" with a host of others. They have pronounced the inquisition a huge success.

CHANGE OF VENUE DENIED.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Sept. 7.—Dr. E. M. POLICEMAN SPRAINS BACK.

OAKLAND, Sept. 7.—Police Officer Britt met with an accident while boarding a San Jose street car this morning and is on the sick list. As he tried to jump aboard the moving car he was caught on the back, severely spraining his back.

Shift of Teachers to Save $19,000 for Oakland Schools

Superintendent Hunter Figures Plan to Aid in Financial Emergency.

Reporting a total estimated school revenue of $3,626,402, or $174,530 more than last fiscal year, Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter last night introduced a plan whereby $19,050 can be saved by reassignment of teachers, the latter being willing to make the changes so long as their contracts were held inviolate. The board approved the transaction.

The report on the estimated revenue was made immediately after the Board of Supervisors yesterday announced the tax apportionment. The reassignment of teachers has been under negotiation for some time and affected supervisors, directors and "other employees assigned in over-head or supervisory positions," whose transfer, it is thought, "will not permanently impair the efficiency of the schools."

The transfers save the salaries of several teachers. The persons affected agreed to it in view of the financial emergency which exists in the Oakland schools.

Southern Branch of U. C. Enrolls 2600

LOS ANGELES Cal., Sept. 7.—The University of California, southern branch, opened its fall semester today, with a growth of more than fifty per cent in the student body, according to Dr. Ernest C. Moore, director. To provide adequately for the new students, the faculty has been increased to 140.

Four hundred of the 2600 who have applied for admission have enrolled in the teachers' courses and the 1200 in the college courses.

The branch will also provide instruction for 300 disabled ex-service men assigned by the Federal vocational board.

FOR COURSE REGISTRATION.

Tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock will be the last opportunity for students to register in the public speaking course given by Jean C. Macmillan of Hotel Oaklawn under the auspices of the University Extension Division. Registration for Dr. Dickson's course in mental testing may be made at the Oakland high school Thursday evening.

ACTIVITIES
OF WOMEN.*Invitations for Luncheons and Teas Are Out

Invitations were received the first of the week for a luncheon which Mrs. George Rothganger will give at her home on San Pablo avenue. The residence is one of the fine old homes of the city and its spacious grounds are a fitting setting for the affair. There will be no special guest of honor though several scores from both sides of the bay will accept the hospitality of the hostess Monday afternoon, September 12.

Miss Lois Williams, betrothed of Horace Hause Hayes; Miss Adele Crist, who is engaged to Arthur Paul Notthoff; and Mrs. Lloyd Vincent Roberto (Frank) of Alameda, will be the hosts Saturday evening at the Mount Diablo Country club, when Miss Laura Milton will preside as hostess at a dinner and dancing party.

Another affair for Miss Williams will be a tea for which two hundred invitations will be sent out for September 24, by Mrs. John Clinton Ernst, sister of the bride-to-be. Mrs. Ernst will entertain in Alameda.

One hundred and fifty cards are out for tea at which Mrs. Donald Linton will preside as hostess the honorees to be Mrs. Henry Cushman Brock and Mrs. Lloyd Robertson Reynolds of San Francisco, on September 22.

Mrs. Arthur McHenry was hostess this afternoon at an informal bridge for sixteen of her former college friends who were bidden to meet Mrs. Alice Breeden, who leaves Saturday for New York City where she will spend the winter. Mrs. McHenry entertained at her home on Calmar avenue.

Miss Claitte Harney will be hostess at tea at the Palace hotel the afternoon of September 17.

Challen Parker is expected the coming week from New York to join his wife who has been summering in California. Upon his arrival several dinners will be given in compliment to the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Bates, Jr., and their family have returned from San Ysidro, Santa Barbara, where they passed the summer season.

WOLF RETURN FROM EUROPE

Mrs. R. Clifford Durant and Mrs. George Wilhelm, who have been touring the south of France visiting the watering places there, are now in London, England, and, according to latest word, will return to California in November.

Backache of Women

The back is often called the main spring of a woman's life. What can she do, where can she go so long as that deadly backache saps every energy? What can she do if she is crippled? She cannot walk, she cannot stand, her housework is a burden, or the load hangs behind the counter. In the office or factory she is crippled. She is miserable. The cause is many times some derangement of her system, and backache is a common symptom. Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable remedy for backache, as for more than forty years it has been relieving women of America from it. Advertisement:

By EDNA B. KINARD. Boosting Oakland by showing the woman who is a stranger within its gates what Oakland's women are thinking and doing, is a plan which Mrs. Bessie Wood Gustason, chairman of civics for Alameda district, California Federation of Women's clubs, is sponsoring. Moreover, she is enlisting in a practical way the women's organizations hereabouts, whether federated or unfederated, in the campaign.

The engagement of Miss Carmen E. Moore of Fairmont avenue and Wesley W. Sibbett of this city is announced. The wedding will take place some time during the latter part of October in St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Miss Moore was graduated from the Merriman School in Piedmont.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin gave an informal supper party at their home last evening about thirty guests calling. Bridge was the diversion.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Burnham are on another motor tour to the north of Oregon and will be away for several weeks.

WEDDING IN GRACE CATHEDRAL

A beautiful ceremony in Grace cathedral, San Francisco, united in marriage at 4 o'clock this afternoon Miss Sylvia Conklin and Leslie Biddle King. Dean J. Wilmer Gresham officiating. Later a reception for relatives and the members of the bridal party was held at the Fairmont hotel. One hundred and fifty guests witnessed the service in the cathedral.

Miss Katherine Hundley, violinist and a sorority sister of the bride, played the wedding march accompaniment by the organ and during the service sang "I'm a Believer" in the concert. Miss Harriet Hundley, and her twin sister, Miss Harriet Hundley, played.

The bride is a petite type with golden hair, and was a lovely picture in her bridal robe of cream Brussels lace draped over flesh georgette and caught with orange blossoms. She carried pink roses. Robert Smith of Berkeley, who was best man and usher, were Captain Alan Conklin, Joseph McKeon and Charles Jones of Bakersfield.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Edward Conklin and a granddaughter of the late Judge and Mrs. Alvan Conklin. She was graduated from Miss Foy's and Miss Barnard's school in Berkeley.

King is a son of E. A. King of Hanford, brother of E. B. King of Berkeley and Arthur King of Piedmont. He served two years in France with the Americans and French armies.

The couple have left on a motor trip after which they will reside in Bakersfield where King is associated with the King Lumber company.

Miss Mary Virginia Johnson of 167 Santa Clara avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pennell Johnson, will leave Friday for an extended tour of the South. She will make her first stop in Kentucky to visit friends and relatives and from there will go to New York, Boston and into Connecticut. Accompanying Miss Johnson on her trip will be Miss Elizabeth Anne Haake who today served as sponsor to the U. S. cutter Mojave. Miss Haake is a graduate of Virginia to complete her schooling. She is a member of the Chi Omega sorority. Both of these young girls are to be entertained by friends there.

The Shakespeare club of Alameda launched the season today, when Mrs. Russell G. Field was hostess to the group of friends which made up the membership of the pioneer club. "Enter Madame" gave inspiration to the program. Although the membership roll numbers but 28 names, the literary club is conceded to hold the top of the list among drama study groups. Mrs. Peter A. Jordan is president.

Mrs. W. W. Blair, curator of the modern authors section in Ebell, opened her Vernon Heights home today to the members of the study group when a discussion of the summer reading provided a program.

The literary worth of the magazines will afford discussion for the meeting of the later September, which will be held in the Harrison street club house. Mrs. W. E. Montgomery will assist Mrs. Blair this year as curator.

Mrs. W. W. Blair, curator of the modern authors section in Ebell, opened her Vernon Heights home today to the members of the study group when a discussion of the summer reading provided a program.

The literary worth of the magazines will afford discussion for the meeting of the later September, which will be held in the Harrison street club house. Mrs. W. E. Montgomery will assist Mrs. Blair this year as curator.

Original writers in Ebell will meet tomorrow to outline the program of work which they will follow during the season. Mrs. Albert Smith, assisted by Mrs. E. D. Yorke, is cur-

Buying Home Town Paper
Leads to Capture of Maryland Fugitive.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—David Bender, convict, said to have killed a policeman in Baltimore in 1915, was under arrest here today due to his desire for home news. Local officers were advised that it was the custom of Bender to purchase Baltimore papers frequently, so a watch was placed on a prominent news stand. Observing a man purchase a Baltimore paper, Detective Frank McGraway approached him and instantly was confronted with a revolver. Before the weapon could be fired, Detective Leo Brunner stepped from behind and knocked it from the man's hand.

A desperate battle followed, in which it required the combined strength of the three detectives to subdue the escapist, who was identified as Bender.

Bender today declared he had taken the warden of the Maryland penitentiary offering to return if granted a new trial. However, he declared he would rather die than return to serve his eighteen-year sentence. He urged the arresting officers to kill him.

"Poor Man's Court" Is Declared Successful

LOS ANGELES Cal., Sept. 7.—The "poor man's court," given its first local tryout this summer, has been adjudged a success by court officials of the city. Exactly 212 cases were filed during its first thirty days and 120 were completed in the month.

Under the rules of the court, known officially as the Small Claims court, a person may start suit for payment of money where the amount is not more than $50. No charge is made for clerk and court fees. The purpose is to eliminate expenses and formalities in small disputed matters. Attorneys may not appear for either side.

SHIP RECORD BROKEN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Ten hours were clipped off the steamship record between Rio de Janeiro and New York by the steamship American Legion, which arrived yesterday. The vessel, which started at 12 days and 12 hours, reached New York in 12 days and 12 hours. The record was 12 days and 12 hours. The record was held by the steamer Acadia, commanded by Captain Corkum, who also commands the American Legion.

DRY AMENDMENT DENOUNCED BY EPISCOPAL BISHOP

California Clergymen in Salt Lake City for Session of Pacific Synod.

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 7.—"To the writing into our constitution of the eighteenth amendment was unpardonable," said the Right Rev. Thomas F. Galer, Episcopal bishop of Tennessee, yesterday. Bishop Galer is here to attend the fourth session of the Province of the Pacific of the Episcopal church, which opens today.

"I take no part in politics. I am neither Republican or Democrat, in such questions," declared Bishop Galer. "I want to say that politicians of both parties have played politics with the good name and the conscience of this country. Whatever in the League of Nations was recommended could have been written out, but to refuse to countenance any measure for universal peace was nothing but a denial of every principle for which the country went to war."

"As to prohibition, that is a delicate question, but I have always asserted my belief and have never evaded a question. To me, the writing into our constitution of the eighteenth amendment was unpardonable. The actions were going; the church was making headway against what evil there was in liquor. To my mind, it was nothing short of hysteria which put over a restriction which could not hope to suppress that evil."

Preliminary to the province sessions, although in nowise directly connected with its stated program, the continental conference of the continental bishops was held yesterday. This session was purely executive and devoted mainly to the budget for the work of the coming year and review of the progress made during the last year.

The missionary bishops who are present at the various sessions of the synod, by states and districts, are: Arizona, the Right Rev. J. W. Atwood; California, the Right Rev. Frank H. Touret; Boise, Nevada, the Right Rev. George C. Huntington; Reno, North Dakota, the Right Rev. J. P. Tyler; Fargo, Oklahoma, the Right Rev. J. P. Thurston; Muskogee, Eastern Oregon, the Right Rev. R. L. Paddock; Hood River, South Dakota, the Right Rev. C. S. Burleson; Sioux City, and suffragan bishop, the Right Rev. W. P. Remington; Rapid City, San Joaquin district, California, the Right Rev. L. C. Sanford; Fresno,

SLENDER BLONDE OF 104 LBS. RATED AS BEAUTY QUEEN

Miss Virginia Lee Is 5 Feet, 4½ Inches Tall and Is Entry in New York Contest.

To be beautiful, it is unnecessary to be either tall, or buxom.

Miss Virginia Lee, slender blonde, weighing but 104 pounds and 5 feet 4½ inches tall, has been proclaimed the most beautiful of all New York women. "Miss New York," she is competing for a gold cup with ten other beauties from Eastern cities in the Atlantic Pageant which is being conducted by Howard Chandler Christy, the artist and portrayer of beautiful women.

Miss Lee has been a model for famous artists and has also played in the movies.

RICH ALAMEDAN JAILED FOR FAST DRIVING IS FREED

Parole Granted Julius A. Landsberger After Part of Sentence Is Served.

Julius A. Landsberger, rich Alamedan, sentenced to three days in the county jail for speeding, was paroled today after he had technical, but not actually served half his sentence.

Landsberger was given three days in the county jail by Judge Robert Edgar of Berkeley, who arrested his arrest on July 16 by Officer J. J. Fisher, who testified he had been driving 42 miles an hour on Shattuck avenue, between University and Derby.

Landsberger, who lives at 1311 Dayton avenue, Alameda, is president of Hunt Brothers' Packing company.

Landsberger avoided serving 23 hours 53 minutes of his first day's confinement by appearing at the county jail before midnight, presenting his commitment papers. Having reached the jail before midnight he was credited with having served half his sentence and was released on probation by the parole board, consisting of District Attorney Ezra DeCoto, Sheriff Frank Barnet, and Chief of Police James T. Drew.

She is described as weighing about 130 pounds; five feet seven inches in height, and as having blue eyes and medium dark hair. She left home wearing a coat with fur collar, a

Mystery Veils Disappearance Of 17-Year-Old Piedmont Girl

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Miss Helen Sommerstrom, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Sommerstrom, 119 Sunnyside avenue, Piedmont, who left home yesterday noon to go to the office of Dr. David Cohn, 1027 Broadway dentist, whom she served as an attendant. She did not arrive at the office and has not been seen by friends or relatives.

The girl took no clothing with her other than that which she wore when she left home at one o'clock yesterday afternoon. At a late hour last night the girl's parents began a canvass by telephone of the homes of friends and relatives, but the girl had not been seen.

The girl was addressed to a friend, Philip Hamilton, employee of the Edwards' company, dealers in dentists' supplies, 805 First National Bank building, was found by the girl's mother on the dresser, where she had apparently placed it, forgetting to mail it. The letter was sealed and stamped. The note was merely a famous reply to a letter from Hamilton, and did not furnish any clews as to the girl's probable whereabouts.

The girl had several boy friends, according to her mother, who have called at the house from time to time. She said she feared her daughter had been kidnapped.

Attempts to contact the hospitals failed to disclose any trace of Miss Sommerstrom, thereby eliminating the possibility of the young woman having met with an accident.

She is described as weighing about 130 pounds; five feet seven inches in height, and as having blue eyes and medium dark hair. She left home wearing a coat with fur collar, a blue-pleated skirt, hat of blue crepe de chene, with transparent trimming, and high-heel pumps, with beaded bands.

MISS HELEN SOMMERSTROM, who has disappeared under mysterious circumstances.

It was also declared that the ordinance in interfering with ice cream manufacturers and ice cream establishments would of necessity obstruct the business of grocers, who would have to stop handling these products.

A committee was appointed to call on Commissioner Frank Colburn tomorrow afternoon.

PETTY POLITICS FEARED IN CAFE LICENSE CHARGES

Opposition to Proposed Measure Crystallizes at Meeting of Those Affected.

Opposition to the proposed city ordinance, increasing licenses for restaurants and soft-drink establishments, crystallized at last night's mass meeting of trades and industries affected by the measure. The sentiment of the meeting, which was held at the Merchants' Exchange, appeared to be that the ordinance would tend to restrain legitimate business, and also that it gave too much opportunity to the city administration for petty politics.

Wilbur Walker of the Merchants' Exchange suggested that the city council should draft a separate ordinance regulating soft-drink parlors dispensing illicit liquor, but not interfering with legitimate business.

It was also declared that the ordinance in interfering with ice cream manufacturers and ice cream establishments would of necessity obstruct the business of grocers, who would have to stop handling these products.

A committee was appointed to call on Commissioner Frank Colburn tomorrow afternoon.

EBEY EXPECTED TO REMAIN HERE WITH SHIP BOARD

Will Return With Plan for Rental of Vessels; Jobs in U. S. Attorney's Office.

Word that Harold H. Ebev, district manager for the United States Shipping Board, is to return from Washington to the bay with a new program for the operation of his department is being received as an indication that he is to remain at the helm in his department and that the stories of a change are without foundation. Ebev has been in view of instituting a plan to provide for a net rental of vessels, the charterer to pay all running expenses. Under the present plan the board has been paying operators a commission on the gross receipts from operation, the board assuming all expenses.

One definite announcement out of the office of the newly appointed United States attorney John L. Williams is that James Raleigh Kelly, young attorney and athlete, has been chosen as one of the deputies, the third to be named. Others are Grover L. Fink, nephew of Grace L. Johnson, the father of Senator Johnson, and Tom Sheridan, formerly associated with Senator Shriver. It is probable that Ebev will have a choice to fill one of the remaining three places, unless the argument that is developing makes it a diplomatic move to avoid the wounding of any faction. Miss Gail Langford and Miss Suzanne Boller are being urged by friends.

Congressman John L. Nolan, in a talk to the Federal Employees Union in the National Building in San Francisco last night, urged radical reclassification of the federal employment system, a minimum wage for federal employees, and closer organization for the benefits to be derived. He said that there are more than 50,000 men and women employed by the government for less than a living wage.

FRANCE JAILED U. S. DESERTERS AFTER THEFTS

TROYES, France, Sept. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Three men wearing khaki uniforms and alleged by the police to have admitted being deserters from the American forces at Coblenz, have been arrested by French gendarmes at Lalagnes. They are charged with highway robbery and burglary.

The men were cornered after an automobile chase of 25 miles. Police assert that the automobile was stolen from the Americans.

The car first appeared Monday evening at Petit Saint George. The occupants, with drawn revolvers, entered the offices of a business firm, forced the cashier to hand over the contents of the safe and sped away toward Paris.

The car was found yesterday morning. They fired at the bandits who replied with volleys. The gendarmes took refuge in a small wood, where they were surrounded and surrendered.

American headquarters at Coblenz is reported to be sending military police for the men.

Ask the Tribune

Recipes loomed up on the Information horizon of The TRIBUNE today and by noon the "Info" Editor was wading neck-deep in recipe queries. Most of them were sent in by mail or telephone, but two of them are being answered in this column by request. One of these queries was as follows:

"How do you make apple jelly?"

Take apples, remove stems and blossom ends, and cut in quarters. Put in a granite or porcelain-lined preserving kettle, and add cold water to come nearly to the top of the apples. Cover and cook slowly until apples are soft; mash and strain through a coarse sieve. Avoid mashing apples, which makes jelly cloudy. Then allow juice to drip through a double thickness of cheese-cloth or jelly bag. Boil twenty minutes, and add an equal quantity of heated sugar; boil five minutes, skim, and turn in saucer. Put in sunny window and let stand 24 hours. Cover and keep in dry cool place. Porter apples make a delicious flavored jelly. If apples are pared, a much lighter jelly may be made. Gravenstein apples make a very spicy jelly. To heat sugar, put in a granite dish, place in oven, leave open door ajar, and stir occasionally.

Another reader asks how to make quince jelly.

To make quince jelly, follow recipe for apple jelly, using quinces in place of apples, and removing seeds from fruit. Quince parings are often used in jelly, the better part of the fruit being used for preserves.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature except school or legal problems of a general nature to solve names and queries as to the time of day.

The Bureau is open every day except Sunday, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. If answers are desired by mail, stamps must be enclosed. Quickest results can be obtained by telephoning to the bureau. If you have any problems of a general nature to solve ask THE TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 6000.

Bloodless Bullfight Celebration Feature

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 7.—A bloodless bullfight will form part of a program with which the Hispano-American Society of Southern California will celebrate the centennial anniversary of the independence of Mexico, in Los Angeles September 16.

In addition there will be Mexican dances, singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," and the Mexican national anthem and speeches by Mayor George E. Cryer, of Los Angeles; A. Orfina, president of the society, and Dr. J. S. Saenz, Cuban consul here.

The Hispano-American Society represents 100,000 persons of Mexican birth or ancestry. Its purpose is the promotion of friendly relations between United States and Mexico.

'Home Town' Will Get Student News

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—The "home town folks" will be able closely to follow the activities of all of the boys at college, according to the plans of the Alumni Association of the University of California. A news bureau is being organized by the managing editor of the alumni magazine, which will send to the home town paper of every college student news of his activities on the campus.

All students who gain positions of prominence in class activities, or in student affairs, will be "written up" and the news of the success will be sent to the home folks. University students will handle the news for the Alumni Association.

'Help Oakland Grow,' To Be Club's Topic

News of the Churches

Presbyterians to Hold Picnic

Presbyterians of the fifty-seven churches in the San Francisco presbytery will gather at San Anselmo on Admission day for their annual picnic and outing. For the first time they will have an open air service during the picnic, and persons looking out toward Alcatraz will be used. A huge tent is being constructed for the service of the luncheon. Rev. Lapsley V. McAtee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Berkeley, will be toastmaster.

One of the features of the day's program will be a race-of-war between the two organizations of the presbytery, one having to do with educational work, Rev. Francis W. Mullins, pastor of St. John's Presbyterian church, Berkeley, will be master of ceremonies and S. D. Archibald of Brooklyn Presbyterian church will be official measurer. The east end of the rope will be held by Rev. William A. Phillips, chairman of the New Era movement and the west end by Mrs. W. F. Geldert of the Women's Presbyterian society. The respective achievements of these organizations will gauge the pull.

Rev. Joseph N. Glazek will picture and tell the story of the Russias on India, and will show also the workings of the organization on Petrovo hill in which Russians of several different sects have united in the formation of a Russian Orthodox church. Representatives of other foreign religious groups at home and abroad will appear in costume and tell briefly of the work the presbytery is carrying on.

Another feature of the day will be chart singing under the direction of Clarence Sprague. The presbytery will be gathered into a band and orchestra by Donald Sturt.

At the close of the day's festivity the young people will take a run to Lake Lagunitas.

Train Trip in Sunday School

The Sunday school teachers and officers of the First Baptist church held a unique social on last Friday evening at the church. Tickets were purchased from Tieke Agent C. S. Caldwell at 50 cents each for a lengthy railroad trip. The train was announced by Conductor Harold Langdon, who punched the tickets and saw that all boarded the right car. On the porter's last call for dinner in the dining car, all went in where they were served their meal in regular style by Porters Milton Fairbanks, Herbert Moore, Lawrence Bowes, Gilbert Hopkins and Stanley Maylay.

Conductor Arthur E. Caldwell passed up and down the aisle explaining scenic points of interest along the journey. Conductor W. J. Wasson sold newspapers and "goodies" to the passengers.

Madame Corkroft explained the train service, which starts at 9:40 a.m. every Sunday at "Jonesville Station" (First Baptist Sunday school) and returns at 4 p.m.

C. Pearson, the pastor, reported 16 per cent net gain in church membership during the past year. S. P. Wagner, the treasurer, rendered a report which showed church finances in a satisfactory condition, with funds amounting over $5 per cent.

He also stated that $1500 has been spent on repairs and improvements

during the year.

Aves—Supervisors Heyer, Murphy, Mullins, Staats and Chairman Hamilton.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Appointing J. C. Melke and J. E. Koenig to assist in installing exhibits at State Fair.

Granting transportation to Mrs. Lila Linnard and two children to Salt Lake.

Granting 15 days' leave of absence to J. C. Hill, Public Administrator.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Irritation, Sour Gas, Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless, if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have tried pepsi, pancreatic, chloral drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure even in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisulat Magnesia. It is a non-commercial carbonate, citrate, or milk, but the pure Bisulat Magnesia can only be obtained from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water, then eat nothing and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which would cause your food to ferment and your mind to feel weak, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that just take a little Bisulat Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without trouble. You will also find that follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisulat magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are no symptoms of acid indigestion.—Advertisement.

M'NAB DEFENDS SPRECKELS WILL

Father Ricard Explains Significance of Sunspots

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—The publicans of not enter into the dispute over the estate of the late John D. Spreckels Jr., and his widow, Mrs. Sidi Wirt Spreckels, is prepared to meet the Spreckels family in a spirit of conciliation, John L. McNab, attorney for Mrs. Spreckels, announced yesterday. Mrs. Spreckels, according to her attorney, who is seeking to establish for her the validity of a second will, which was drawn and written by Spreckels himself, sometime before his death. According to McNab, the will is perfectly valid in all respects and provisions, but Spreckels evidently came somewhat "unhanded" in his legal phraseology. McNab said yesterday:

"The first will drawn on behalf of Spreckels was revoked by the will drawn when he married his second wife. The second will contains a peculiar provision: it gave a third of the estate to the wife, who is Sidi Wirt Spreckels, and distributed the remainder to his children by the first marriage, who are with their mother, Mrs. Frank Spreckels, New York."

It also provides that if a posthumous child was born in a certain period, it would share equally with the children by the first wife. A daughter, Gertrude, was born later than he expected when he made the will, and beyond the period specified. His wife died before he does not invalidate the will.

Spreckels came to his death in an automobile accident at Bakersfield.

NOT TO KNOW IS NO EXCUSE

To Know How to Keep Well Is Better Than to Call in a Doctor to Get Well. Sickness Is a Penalty Not an Accident.

One of the best and most dependable and important preventative of getting sick, one of the surest ways of keeping well is to form and maintain the exceedingly good habit of regular, thorough, daily bowel evacuation.

That is Nature's "best bet." You should do your best to help Nature, not hinder her in her efforts to keep you well. With the best of good intentions you may employ many methods. Strong, drastic acting medicines that force the bowels to act simply replace one evil by another evil. It may secure temporary action but it produces more than temporary irritation and other bad effects. Don't judge by promise in selecting a simple remedy to assist Nature. Performance is the true test. Take Beecham's for example.

Over 70 years ago people began to take Beecham's. Today millions of people all over the world take Beecham's, recommend Beecham's to their friends, hand the use of Beecham's down from father to son or from mother to daughter, for generations after generation. That means much. You never hear any unfavorable criticism or complaint regarding Beecham's. That means much if not more. It takes real merit to withstand the tests of time and trial. You can do much to help Nature keep you well by keeping a box of Beecham's in the house, ready for use at the first warning of disorder or derangement. All druggists sell Beecham's are glad to sell Beecham's.

STATE ASKED TO OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—In a proclamation made public last night Governor William D. Stephens, of California, September 9, "Admission day," urged all residents of California to join in celebrating this historic day.

Father Ricard explained that like the earth so is the sun divided for the purpose of science in 360 meridians, of which the central meridian is the most important since it serves as the scientist's capital line of reference. From this point of view, Father Ricard said the remaining meridians are peripheral.

"But let us dwell on the polarity of sunspots a little longer. It has been ascertained that spots on the northern hemisphere have one kind of polarity and on the southern hemisphere an opposite kind. This may account for the fact that northern spots always make the storm on the earth and, contrariwise, southern spots always make the counter-storm.

"When, however, in 1911-12-13, the northern and southern spots were reversed, there was not noticed any corresponding change in their meteorological effects on the earth's atmosphere, i.e., northern spots kept on making the highs and southern spots making the lows.

"Whereas the great inhabitants of this state trace all the blessings and achievements of our commonwealth from the date of its admission into the Union of the states, now, therefore, I, William D. Stephens, governor of California, believing it to be a most praiseworthy custom to observe Admission day, do hereby urge all residents of California to join in celebrating this historic day. I hereby call upon all state departments to observe this holiday, and to fly the flag of the United States on public buildings."

ADmits TORTURING TWO.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—Henri Perthes, a French criminal whose parents were French, admitted yesterday that he tortured and killed Alphonse Gombert, rich farmer, to death at Avances and robbed the home. Both victims were literally hacked to pieces after being bound.

DENVER FINES 60 WEIRS.

DENVER, Sept. 7.—Sixty-six persons paid fines of $20 each in police court here yesterday, on charges of drunkenness. One hundred and forty-two persons were arrested here since Saturday for various offenses, a new police record for Denver.

Clerk Slays Girl, Then Kills Self

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7.—Feed Mrs. Elizabeth Chambers, pioneer of Oakland, died at her home on Monte Cresta avenue yesterday following an illness of several months. Mrs. Chambers was active in philanthropic work and was prominent in the local circles. She was a member of the Ladies Aid, the High Club and other exclusive organizations. Mrs. Chambers was born in England. She was 89 years old. She is survived by two sons and three daughters. They are Arthur L. Chambers, George R. Chambers, Mrs. J. B. E. ## THE NEW COUNTY TAX RATE.

A cut of six cents in the basic county tax rate and of ten cents in the county rate to apply in Oakland represents encouraging news at a time when there is call for economy. That the supervisors were able to effect this saving is proof that the genuine desire for the saving of tax-payers' money may always accomplish results.

It is a recognition by the board of the spirit of the times and formal announcement of Alameda county's participation in the nation-wide program of governmental economy. With the reduction voted by the Oakland City Council, the total county and city tax rate will be twenty-nine cents lower than last year.

Obstacles held as insurmountable when a tax cut was advocated a number of weeks ago have been overcome. The supervisors were faced by the salary increase granted by the last legislature, which adds close to four cents to the rate, and by the need of institution and road expense. Wisely they have allowed for the expenditure of $300,000 for the Highland Hospital, $150,000 for the new Niles road, and $154,000 for the San Leandro Hospital and, with all of this, have lowered the rate of a year ago.

Had the hospital and road items been left out twenty cents or more could have been taken from the rate. But the hospitals and roads would have had to be built in time and postponing the action would have but added to the burden. As it is hundreds of men will be given employment at a time they need it.

The taxpayers of Alameda county have every reason to be satisfied with the new rate fixed by the board.

SCHOOL TAXES STABILIZED.

Alameda county's board of supervisors proved their understanding of the intent and purposes of Amendment 16 when they cut that part of the basic county tax rate which provides for the common school fund from 50 cents to 44½ cents. In doing so, however, they did not recognize a desire held in silence by many educators that the new system would not mean a decrease in county funds for school purposes.

Amendment 16 was designed, the school men said in the campaign, to raise the money where it is most plentiful and apply it where there are the most children. Its advocates argued that the State was paying less and less for common schools and that the county burden was being made heavier and proposed, in brief, that the state should pay $20 a pupil and that each county should contribute no less than the State.

Under the 50 cent rate Alameda county has been paying more than $20 a pupil. With the passage of Amendment 16 the supervisors have taken the educators at their word and have fixed the rate here to provide just $20 from the county, the schools will not be deprived of a single dollar in revenue but the distribution of burden is changed.

What many counties have failed to do and what many educators are frank in saying they hoped Alameda county would fail to do, is to recognize the changed situation. Had the 50 cent rate been continued, and school men asked the county to continue it, the result would have been to deprive the taxpayers of the county of their rights for the reduction that will partly offset the increase in State school expenditures. While there is not exactly a joker in the amendment, the way was open for the schools to receive more than their share from the county and it is significant that no school man pointed out this danger of taxation unwarranted by law. Instead the school attitude has seemed to have been one of waiting to see if the supervisors were smart enough to discover the opportunity for equalizing the school burden between the county and the State.

In Alameda county the board passed this test with highest marks. The intermediate schools are now entitled, under the new law, to receive $60 for each pupil attending—$20 from the State and $30 from the county. School administrators must cut their cloth to measure. They are not expected to come at every budget fixing time crying both to the county and the city for special levies and appropriations to enable them to maintain their higher salary list for teachers and other extraordinary expenditures.

THE MOTIVE OF A TARIFF.

Criticism of the Senate committee for according a hearing to a delegation of steel makers from Sheffield, England, in connection with the pending tariff bill, does not seem to be well-founded. The record of all that the English manufacturers said is not yet available, but it is presumed that they presented information which was pertinent to the consideration of a tariff law. Congress needs all the information to be had, and after all the protestants and advocates are heard on the tariff question, Congress is not obligated to shape its action to suit any one or any class.

From their own viewpoint, the contention of the Sheffield steel-makers was reasonable. They did not ask that their products be put on the free list. What they ask is the maintenance of the present duty, to which they have adjusted themselves. But they say that the proposed increase to 20 percent on steel valued above forty cents per pound, and seventy-two cents per pound on the tungsten content in excess of one and one-half percent, would put the Sheffield manufacturers out of business. They could not, they say, send any steel to the United States under that tariff charge. And as their industry is largely dependent on American patronage, they and their workers would be ruined.

The Boston Transcript, representing almost the heart of the manufacturing district of America, and a district where tariff protection against cheap competitive imports is necessary, seems to make the best reasoned observation on this point. It says editorially:

"The English manufacturers assume that we in America do not want to ruin anybody. Probably they are right in so assuming. The motive of a protective tariff is the advantage of the home producer and worker, not specifically the disadvantage of the foreign producer and worker.

But when the advantage of the two comes into conflict, the foreigner undoubtedly has to suffer. The question, after all, which the Congress of the United States has to settle is the balance all around between cost of production here and abroad (in Germany as much as in England), the exchange advantage which the importer now possesses, the question of the fullest operation of domestic industries, the largest employment of home labor, and the supply of the needs of American use and construction. England has comparative free trade where we have protection to home industry, but was the motive of England in establishing free trade altruistic? Is it possible for the fiscal policy of any nation to be governed by altruistic considerations?"

The point in the above is that the motive of the tariff schedule is to provide adequate protection for home industry and the home worker. The motive is not to destroy industry in some other country. So Congress must get back to this factor and examine it very carefully. If the House rate on hard steel is higher than necessary to protect the American worker that rate should be revised, not in the interest of the steel makers of England, but for the advantage of the consumers of America. Which means that the interest of the foreign steel maker and the American consumer of steel products, as they may be affected by an inordinately high tariff, stand pretty close together.

The new superreadmught Washington, to be one of the four largest and most powerful battleships of the American navy, was launched last week at Camden, N. J. If all formulas of agreements and phrases fail to protect America against future war the Washington and sister ships will constitute a substantial guarantee of effective defense against outside aggressors.

On a golf course near Washington golf players who were playing for a dollar a hole came upon a police party who had twenty trap shooters retorted in a cave. There is no record that the golfers expressed any sympathy for the trap shooters.

A STATE IN RECEIVERSHIP.

But we wait in West Virginia for a repetition, perhaps on a much larger scale, of the horrors of the State of California. This time it is prompted by a timid and inert editorial staff at the Mountain News of Elkins, in which that town was present at the opening of the old temple of El Dorado and Chancery streets, the latter experience of Colorado in a miners' strike so long ago. West Virginia might repeat that it took Colorado some time to learn its lesson, and that this will be part of the price. But that is just the problem confronting the nation as a whole. Must we wait in this state to prove that the only real security attainable in West Virginia is the sand of shore and water?

The state's position then to the armed miners is far from clear. But the miners are not the only ones of the who's who of the State. Whether or not the crisis passes without the intervention of Federal troops, the fact remains that there has already been federal intervention, in that a great Commonwealth has confessed its helplessness to maintain law and order in a situation that is not at all an emergency but one resulting out of chronic conditions manifested in long-standing symptoms. Even if the danger of civil war is remote for the moment, we have no guarantees for the future. The President's proclamation the drafting of a emergency plan, which all too evident that the country can muster must drive home upon the people of West Virginia.

Such a situation will be the sentence if it is

NOTES AND COMMENT

The published statistics showing that the bay ferries carried 12,225 automobiles during three days illustrates the extent to which the auto prevails. It is interesting to speculate how many horse-drawn vehicles would have been carried, had they been the only conveyance available for outings.

The picture of the man who is the "Imperial Wizard," head of the Ku Klux Klan thing, evinces an amability and good will that would not naturally be associated with such an organization. Further mystification results from the explanation that he is a "big business man," with the responsibilities that must adhere to one in such position.

Publicity experts are always pulling new stunts. The announcement that two musical comedy stars, sissies, have signed a contract not to marry for ten years looks like an effort on new lines. There may be speculation, however, as to what the manager will do about it if the contract shall be broken.

The story about the infatuated lawyer who has sued Pauline Frederick to recover $26,000 is interesting. Whether the bulk of this is for telegraph tolls on tender messages wired to her over an extended period as claimed, is not so much the point as that a man should sue a woman for anything whatever after addressing her in such terms as this one is shown to have done.

Mr. Bryan has taken up a somewhat hackneyed subject in scoring what profiteers, as he is reported to have done in Chicago. Everybody scores all sorts of profiteers, but profiteering seems to keep right on. What is really needed is some wise plan to circumvent it. There isn't much use in figuring on shaming profiteers, or on their reformation.

The news from New Jersey that Jack Johnson has been barred from public speaking is interesting. It is common knowledge that he was barred from fighting, but it was not understood that his oratory was also a menace to the public decorum. However, it happened in Jersey.

The Medford Mail and Tribune discusses the war in West Virginia. "It's Nero Here" wailingly inquires the Portland Journal, in an editorial on the West Virginia coal miners' war. If Nero were here he would send most of the crusaders for industrial right back to Europe where 90 per cent of them haled from. Because the coal barons fail to show signs of being human, a motley collection of abominable hellhounds have no right to walk all over the constitution of the United States."

All they have to do now is to go and catch Roy Gardner again. And this has been amply demonstrated as some considerable job. The whole United States penal effort doesn't seem able to keep him after he is caught. As to the get-away he certainly has the record.

LEFT BANK OF S. F. BAY KEY TO FERRY ROW

Fate of Six-Minute Enterprise May Be Dependent Upon the Interpretation of a Clause in Code of State

Where is the left bank of San Francisco bay?

Upon the solution of this intricate question may depend the future success or failure of the Six Minute Ferry company to establish its line of boats at the Seventh street terminal over the opposition of the Oakland city government, which says it must use Fourteenth street or no place.

The Six Minute Ferry company, ignoring Oakland, went to San Francisco and applied to the San Francisco Board of Supervisors for permission to conduct a transbay ferry. The hearing comes up in San Francisco September 18.

LAW IS QUOTED.

The ferry company alleges that San Francisco is on "the left bank of the San Francisco bay."

Section 2343 of the Political Code, written in 1872, says: "When the operation of a ferry is desired upon waters separating two counties, the application must be made to the Board of Supervisors of the county on the left bank of said stream, bay, or arm of the sea."

City Attorney Leon Gray asserts that Alameda county is on the left bank of the bay. If San Francisco grants the ferry company a right to operate, he says he will procure a writ of review on the ground that San Francisco county has exceeded its jurisdiction.

The statute, it is admitted, gives the county on the left side complete control of the situation. Should the ferry company get a San Francisco franchise, it can even condemn East-bay waterfront lands for its uses, as de facto public service corporation.

LEGAL CONUNDRUM.

The arguments of the involved county is on the left side of the bay are expected to be interesting, and may call for mathematical and geodetic experts. It is admitted that Marin county occupies a lone eminence as the only county on the "right" side of the whole bay, flanking all the waters, but other experts say that the Golden Gate is an integral part of the bay, and Marin county is unquestionably on the left side of the Golden Gate, looking inward.

Gray asserts that the Six Minute Ferry company should have come to the Alameda county supervisors for their permit, as Alameda county is irrevocably on the left side of the Sacramento, San Joaquin and all other waterways which flow down hill toward the Golden Gate.

READY TO AMMUNITION.

In case Gray loses his contention, he has his reserve ammunition.

Section 2358 of the Political Code asserts that there shall be "no ferry operating within a mile of any other ferry," except under special circumstances. The Southern Pacific and Key Route, says Gray, operate plenty of ferries under present circumstances without another one on the job.

At Section 29 of the Civil Code it is argued that a ferry company ceases to be a corporation if authority to operate is not secured from some board of supervisors within six months after incorporation. The Six Minute company was incorporated in 1920 in Solano county, and on October 29 filed copies in Alameda county. This was more than a year ago.

Athletics Given New Impetus Among Women of University

MISS GRACE ALLEN, women's athletic director at the University of California.

MACARTHUR IS HEARD IN DEFENSE

Most Active Season in Campus History Inaugurated by Miss Grace Allen.

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—Athletics for college women have a start in the person of Miss Lucy Stebbins, dean of women at the University of California.

That each woman student on the campus become affiliated with at least one athletic activity is the plea of Miss Stebbins, who scours the theories of certain other college leaders that too much exercise tends to weaken the body.

In advice to freshmen women beginning their college work, Miss Stebbins urges, however, that an overbalanced athletic program be not prepared and that studies be given first consideration.

What probably is the most active athletic season known on the college campus has been inaugurated by the direction of Miss Grace Allen, senior student who holds the important post this year of woman's athletic manager. Miss Allen, who has won her "Big C" for athletic prowess, is directing work in tennis, swimming, hiking, rowing, basketball, tennis and practically every form of outdoor amusement.

LAND COLONY PLAN STUDIED BY VISITORS

Members of Scottish Board of Agriculture Come to Study Methods Employed Here to Boost Settlement

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—The Call for a series of land colonization, as promulgated by Professor Elwood Mead, head of the state land settlement board, will be followed in Scotland as a result of a visit by James Dunlop and Duncan Stewart, commissioners of the Scottish board of agriculture.

Dunlop and Stewart made the trip to Scotland to Perfect for the Congress plan of colonizing with Dr. Mead. They arrived in the midst of a week's conference, designed for land owners and settlers, now being held under the supervision of the department of agriculture of the university.

LARGE HOLDINGS DEPLETED.
Seriously conditions prevail in Scotland, according to the two visitors, resulting in the need of wealthy land owners in refusing to split their large holdings into smaller tracts for the benefit of the masses.

"Approximately 3,000,000 acres are held by these wealthy land owners, who alone are responsible for the slow progress made in Scotland toward bettering conditions. The people who offered their lives in order that the allies might win against Germany," asserted Commissioner Stewart.

"So keen is the land hunger that in the western highlands the Kelts have forcibly taken possession of lands. Out of 15,000 approved applicants for small farms allotments only a small percentage have been placed on farms."

"While these poor people are kept from the lands thousands of acres of wooded country are being kept up by the wealthy land owners for the singular purpose of having a deer feed once a year when the hunting season is on."

GREED OF OWNERS.

"The condition is deplorable. Just before our departure from Scotland on this mission, Christopher Turnor, an expert on fanning conditions, made a survey of the entire country in an effort to assist the Dominion in settling former service men on farms.

"So unpopular did he find the plan among the extensive land holders that the commissioners of the Scottish board of agriculture had to temporize for the plan for immediate settlement."

Stewart and Dunlop left last night for the southern part of the state, and will make further investigations throughout the United States.

Plans for financing agricultural development and for improving millions of acres of land now lying idle are to be worked out by the committee being held at the university this week will be devoted to the interests of land owners, while next week the land settler will form the theme.

New Street Plan Opposed By Club

The proposal to construct a direct street through private property between Mather and Broadway met with opposition from the Central Improvement club, which did not sit right in the auditorium of the theater last night.

Thomas J. Rich, club president, said the proposed street would make the junction some 200 feet from Forty-second street, on a right angle. A dangerous grade was offered as ground for the opposition. Resolutions against the proposed street were adopted.

John Ferguson, a member of the club, said the proposed street would be as far from the mines of Southern Manchuria.

Japan produces about 25,000,000 tons of coal a year. Including the output from the mines of Southern Manchuria.

GIRL EX-CASHIER OPENS FIGHT FOR $100,000 ESTATE

Former Employee of Late Leon Morrison Bases Claim On Marriage Offer.

Fight for the $100,000 estate left Leon Morrison, late Oakland clothing dealer, was begun today by Miss Marian Scott, 409 East Fourth street, his former cashier. Miss Scott bases her suit on the claim that Morrison, shortly before his death, proposed a death-bed marriage that she might receive his fortune but later left it to her in a will, which has been destroyed. The case is before Superior Judge E. D. Robinson.

After listening for some time to the arguments of E. B. Taucher, the girl's attorney, and Benjamin R. Ladd, representing the public administrator regarding the original petition as presented by Miss Scott's lawyer, Judge Robinson continued the case until September 15.

The case was not continued, however, until after Taucher, at the suggestion of the court, amended his original petition, striking out the word "wrongfully," before destroyed.

MARRIAGE REFUSED,

Miss Scott, who while the pretty 19-year-old cashier hopes to secure the fortune of her former employer is that just before his death, Morrison drew up a will leaving his entire estate to her, after she refused to marry him upon his death bed. According to Taucher, this will has been destroyed, and a thorough search failed to reveal any trace of the missing document.

Miss Scott appeared in court this morning accompanied by her mother, and sat through a long procedure until her case was called, looking continuously at a gold wrist watch she wore on her left arm.

Before court convened she was exceedingly cheerful over her prospects of securing the fortune which she demands. Morrison left it to her and talked freely of her relations with the late clothing merchant during the time she was in his employment.

ADVERSE TO COUNTING UNHATCHED CHICKENS.

"Just before he died Mr. Morrison asked me to marry him," said Miss Scott. "But I didn't want to do that. I didn't want to get married at all, and he was too old. He often promised me that when he died he would leave me his entire estate while I was working for him, and spoke as though this would be my reward."

"After I refused to marry him, he made a will and left his fortune to me."

When asked what she would do with the money from Morrison's estate, she said, "I would give it to her." Miss Scott said, "Well, I have made many plans yet. I don't like to do that very well, for it's too much like counting chickens before they are hatched. When the entire proceedings are ended, there will be plenty of time to talk about that."

WARNED AGAINST DRESSING UP SHOES.

Both Miss Scott and her mother have little doubt but that the fortune will in time revert to them.

At the same time Miss Scott was beginning her court battle to secure possession of the money, Mrs. A. D. Schindler, the merchant's former landlady, of 568 Tenth street, ridiculed the girl's claims and declared that "It's poor policy to look for money in dead men's shoes." That's what I told Miss Scott, and her mother," Mrs. Schindler said today, "that's what I believe."

Schindler says that Miss Scott's dad mother came there on the day following Morrison's death and the deceased had started to convivial from his coat to show off. "He was in the hospital cents. "At the afternoon," she recognized a man in the afternoon," she said. "Then his nurse and I that the novelties. On the following day, Miss Scott came with in court to my house, asking to see me. I told them Morrison died and asked them what they were. We are old friends," said Mrs. Schindler, questioning them further. However, I learned that Miss Scott scarcely knew Morrison and that Miss Scott had only been an employee at one time.

"On June 28 they came again. I remember the date. It was window cleaning day. They told me how Morrison, when he was in the hospital, reached into his coat and said, 'Did you come to see me today?' he answered, 'Yes, in the coat.' It was a dressing gown. He looked there and was going to show me the will. But when they saw I did not believe them, they left and have not returned."

On Wednesday, the 22d, however, Miss Scott came here with a young man. They came to go and find the room to show the pictures we were arranged. They said we were greatly interested in the old man. I know they were looking for money behind the pictures, and told them so."

When the case comes up in probate court again on September 15, several witnesses who will testify in favor of Miss Scott will probably be placed on the stand, according to Taucher.

PROGRESS MADE FOR EFFICIENCY, SAYS PRESIDENT

Harding Predicts Work of Retrenchment Will Be Completed Soon.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The hope is expressed by President Harding in a letter reviewing the achievements of the Republican administration that Congress before the end of the extraordinary session will enact in addition to tariff and tax legislation the foreign debt funding and the railroad debt funding bills, as well as other important measures.

The letter addressed to Senator McCormick of Illinois was made public last night, and it is understood will be used in the campaign in New Mexico where Senator Bursum, appointed to fill the unexpired term of Secretary of the Interior Fall, is a candidate for election.

"We have made much progress toward retrenchment and greatly increased efficiency," the President asserts.

"I cannot but account it a monumental accomplishment which has marked work of the extraordinary session down to the time of its recess."

In discussing the problems confronting the administration he says that "Surveying the situation as a whole, it is plain that we are working our way out of a welter of waste and prodigal spending at a most impressive rate."

EXPENSES REDUCED.

The letter continues, pointing out the extravagance incident to the war, the expenditure of $3,500,000,000 by the shipping board; between $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 for aircraft, artillery and ammunition, and between $1,250,000,000 and $1,500,000,000 for the railroad administration alone.

"It is gratifying to be able to say, therefore, that probably no other government in the world has so materially reduced expenditures as has the Government of the United States the past two years on the insistence of the republican Congress. Moreover, I am happy to assure you that the administrative departments are now in full sympathy with the program of rigorous and unremitting economy, through which, I believe, we will be able, during the next year, to call back into the treasury so large a sum that the aggregate of taxation may be reduced to $3,500,000,000 a year."

WILL LIGHTEN BURDENS.

"Half the present total expenditures of the government arises from wars of the past. Similar burdens are imposed upon the taxpayers of other countries, and a well-nigh universal protest against a possible repetition of gigantic conflicts led to the conclusion that the conference in November may lighten the burdens of both armament and taxation."

"Almost without exception the governments of other countries are faced with great deficits. . . . We must not overestimate our good fortune and the prudence of our Congress. We must permit the budget revenue and expenditure at a time when deficits are the rule throughout the world. We shall be greatly aided in a policy of progressively reducing expenditure by the budget law, republican in origin, design, enactment and execution. . . . I do not hesitate to say that in ordinary times it alone would have been considered a highly creditable program."

AMELIORATE CONDITIONS.

"Yet in a time of such legislative activity as the present, it is only one among many measures of the first importance to be enacted. It was quickly followed by the enactment of the immigration law, calculated both to limit the inflow of population during depression and to lessen the effects which may affect the true Americanization of all newcomers."

"The series of measures looking to the amelioration of conditions in the great agricultural industries would in other times have constituted a striking legislative product of a year's session. These include the law for control of the packing industry, the act for the regulation of oil wells, the bill to extend the right of eminent domain to farmers through the war finance corporation to enable them to carry their crops into the market, the bill to establish a veterans bureau, a consummation of those reforms in caring for our disabled men which were inaugurated by executive order. We also established a pension and arrears fund, established a generous production and profitable exchange of foodstuffs and commodities under the conditions of peace and assurance of good wages and general employment."

FUGITIVE PUTS UP FIGHT WITH POLICE IN S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—David Bender, escaped convict of Maryland state penitentiary, was captured in San Francisco yesterday and is held in the Alcatraz island prison.

In 1915 Bender killed a policeman in Baltimore. He escaped from prison last June. The San Francisco police were informed he was working in all probability as a cook in the city.

Bender was captured in San Francisco, Calif., when he was trying to buy a boat.

Detective Frank McGray and D. Bunner noticed a stranger, answering Bender's description, buying a Baltimore newspaper at a newsstand. They approached him, when Bender suddenly drew a gun, which was knocked out of his hand by Detective Bunner, who was watching him closely. He was overpowered and taken to headquarters, where he admitted his identity, but protested his innocence in the Baltimore crime.

Funeral of Y.M.C.A. Leader Is Held

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—The crippled freighter Canadian Importer has been ordered by her owners into San Francisco harbor for repairs instead of to her home port at Vancouver. The vessel's heavy list and the fear of bad weather are responsible for this change of plans. The Canadian Importer is at present reported 500 miles west of the port under tow of the tug Sea Lion.

The Canadian Importer sprung a leak on August 19 and drifted for more than two weeks. Eleven of her men attempted to row 700 miles to shore to secure aid. They are now recuperating aboard the vessel.

A second tug, the Sea Mariner, has been sent to lead the ship further assistance. The Canadian Importer, with her cargo, is valued at over $2,000,000.

Death Sentence on Chinese Highbinder

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Convicted of the murder of Lim Fook on May 18, Lew Pat, a Chinese highbinder, was sentenced by Judge Louis Ward to be hanged at San Quentin on December 2. His condemned Lim Fook, a leper, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment. The shooting was an affair of the long and long time. Arrangements will be made according to the police, to have Lim Fook serve his life sentence in a leper colony.

Air Mail Service To Reno Resumed

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Resuming the interrupted air mail service between San Francisco and Reno, a plane left the Presidio yesterday afternoon. Nine drafnaughts, followed by destroyers and supply ships, fell into the single column and passed through the Golden Gate, the flagship New Mexico leading the way.

COUNTIES BREAK AWAY FROM OLD EXHIBITS AT FAIR

New Methods of Showing Off Products Feature of Annual Event.

Here Is Program For Tomorrow, State Exhibition

8:30 P. M.—Fireworks.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—Perhaps the outstanding feature of California's 1921 State Fair is the breaking away by counties from the old stereotyped methods of exhibiting their products and resources. As a result visitors are loud in their praise of the various displays, thoroughly appreciating the novelty and difference of the new exhibits. Every county is "getting over" its features better through the novelty of its display.

Santa Cruz county has made one of the most radical and pleasing departures from the old style exhibit. Instead of a booth filled with boxes and baskets of its products, Santa Cruz has left her booth clear, placing plates of her main products on a counter around it, and using beautiful photographs and oil paintings to depict the resources and wonders of the country. Relief maps illustrating the topographical features and shows the new highway system.

ALL INDUSTRIES SHOWN.
Confronted with the problem of a county fair, interests are almost divided between citrus fruits, deciduous and vine fruits, livestock raising and dairying, Secretary A. E. Motz of the Tulare County Board of Trade worked on many plans until he evolved a display which gives equal prominence to these industries.

Beeswax as a medium for sculpture is a distinct hit, which astonished visitors at the main exhibit of Fresno county. Judging by the artistry of the carved creations, beeswax sculpturing is likely to prove popular in art circles.

Kern county always insists on being different from the other fellow when it comes to the exhibition. This year it has what is known as a "feature" exhibit, and is certainly distinctive from any other in Agricultural Hall. It is an "attendantless" display.

EXHIBIT IS DIFFERENT.

The exhibit booth was filled with bawdiness, sloping back from the rail to a height of about ten feet, where it merged into a painted back of the mountains.

With keen interest, the sloping foothills of Kern were reproduced, with the lowlands in the foreground, and through it all winds the Kern River, finally emptying in Buena Vista lake, all in minature. Real water flows through the river channel, and in the lake real fish swim about.

Laid out in circular spots are the leading products of the county, while raisins and nuts are strewn in a gully in the foreground. It is an exhibit totally different from the stereotyped fair exhibit, and catches the eye of everyone at the fair.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 7.

Ferdinand V Hayden, geologist, who is said to have been responsible for the preservation of The Yellowstone as a national park, was born in 1829. Ten years later "Eli Perkins" was born. His real name was Melville P. Landon. Edmund M. Holland, called one of the greatest character actors in America, was born in 1848.

"The Home 'er Art Number
When the world were just born
And was looking on the floor
They gathered round and watched it
They pressed it 'till it burst
'If we only had a hole'
Said one. We'd fix it quick."

"I'd plug it up," one number said.
"And have it come by moon,
But plumbie can't do it work,
And not do where it's born."
Another said, "We'd fix this
We'd be a pick of fools,
For we have got to get this bunch
Back to get its tools!"

And so they sat upon the floor,
The bubbling numbers around
And talked the weighty problem over
Until they all were drowned.

ALICE BLUE.

By Lesley Aileen,

1724 Carlton St., Berkeley.

It was Christmas Eve. The wind whistled and sang through the branches of the trees. It was very dark and cold outside. The few people who were hurrying about with happy faces through the streets looking at the lovely things in the shop windows.

I sat in a store window on Fifth Avenue, looking on at the gay scene. I was on a high gilded chair and felt like a queen among the other dolls. A jumping-jack was fastened to the waistband of my terrible dress and would jump up and down, sometimes twisted his arms and legs into knots over the top of his head. I was afraid of him. A small teddy-bear was hunched up in the corner. I was sorry for him, he looked so sad and lonely. Some other dolls were sitting at a small table, whispering and laughing among themselves. I didn't like them because they weren't polite. There was a very nice doll next to me. We had quite a gay time discussing the fashions.

Presently a beautiful automobile drew up to the curb and an old gentleman and a small girl stepped out.

They came into the store and asked to see the dolls. My heart thumped. What if they should take me! I smoothed my dress and straightened my curls and hair. Two people wandered into the store, looking at the dolls, but the little girl didn't seem to want them. Finally she caught sight of me.

"Oh, look at the lovely doll in the window," she cried. "Put her for me, Grandad," she shouted impatiently.

"Yes, yes, child," said the old gentleman, smiling at her eagerness.

My heart beat with joy. I was going to have a little mother. I was put in a box and was carried to the waiting auto. We rode through the streets and after a short while stopped at a large stone house. I was carried in and was left sitting under a wonderful Christmas tree in the drawing-room.

A dilapidated rag doll was lying under a chair. She was thin and meager. She told me that she had lived in a little store and when she died she had been buried in the stone house the little girl had been very loving and had played with her for a short time, but soon grew tired of her. Then she was left around on the floor and neglected because she heard her little mother tell some other little girls that she was going to get another beautiful doll like the new one. "Just wait; the little girl will soon grow tired of you."

Christmas day dawned bright and clear. My little mother played all day with me and I was very happy. She named me Alice Blue, because my dress and hair were made of blue silk. She played with me every day for about a week, then a new doll came along to play. I was left alone after the cousin in the nursery and the little girl never came to see me. It was very dull because I had no one to talk to but the spiders, and as they were always busy they weren't very sociable.

One day a broom poked his bristling head underneath the couch and dragged me out. I was picked up and put on a high shelf, where all the discarded toys were kept.

I lived up there for nearly a year and one day I saw a pair of eyes looking at us.

"Why, here's all the old dolls," said the nurse, for she it was. "Let's send them to the little poor children for Christmas."

The governess agreed, and so we were all taken down from our old home. My silk dress was ripped off, and my other clothes because they were torn and dirty.

"I'm not going to dress this one," said the nurse, holding me up, "because some poor little child will enjoy dressing it."

I was packed into a big box and was put on the window seal. Christmas Eve soon came and I was put into the auto and sent to the slums of New York, was taken into a dark, run-down house and placed on a shelf at the side of a small bed.

As soon as everyone had gone out of the room I looked at the cat. A little girl lay sleeping there. She looked kinder and sweeter than my first little mother. I hoped she would treat me better.

The long night passed away and in the early morning, when the sun was just beginning to filter in at the windows, the little girl awoke. She sat up and rubbed her eyes and then caught sight of me. The next thing I knew I was pressed tight to a little beating heart, while a pair of chubby hands were caressing me.

My new mama never leaves me by myself and it is nice to be loved all the time by a little poor girl, and be dressed in a calico gown and sunbonnet, than to be dressed in blue silk and feathers and be loved for only a week by the little rich girl.

Joy Enough.

There's joy enough, believers, in the country round about; A rift in all the clouds still lets the sunburst out; the clouds still let.

No thorn bush has its flower—though thick the thorns may grow;

And the world is rolling on the way that

We would have it go!

FIVE PROOFS THAT FALL HATS ARE GROWING LARGER

By Annette Bradshaw

A noticeable feature in many of the new-fall hats is that they are much larger than those which were affected a season ago. Interesting developments are also perceived in the arrangement of the brims, while many show a clever use of ostrich and other feather trimmings.

Illustrated at the extreme left is a striking picture hat of nutmeg velvet. The sweeping line of the brim is adorned with the curling plumes of the sand-colored ostrich plume which falls in magnificent style about the back of the hat.

Negro velvet lends itself well to the fashioning of another picturesque hat shown at the extreme right. This reveals the clever use of peacock trimming. The rich blue in these feathers contrasts effectively with the negro velvet.

In the center of the group is a decidedly good-looking model of black panne velvet. The trimming favored for this creation is uncured ostrich, which is drawn through a slit in the brim and dips toward the shoulder.

To the right of this is a sleek green velvet hat. Its brim is sumptuously trimmed and forms a resting place for the phoenician ostrich trimming. A narrow band of green ribbon encircles the crown.

To the left of the hat in the center of the illustration is a smart turban made of mas tulipons of brown velvet. The cuff brim is elaborate with small tufts of brown silk floss.

That first pleated bunch of sandwiches and layer cake and pulled punches that you eat with The Girl Who Lives in the Hill of the Land. One who never had her taste for tortoise eggs (or tortoises), the wristy, tortuous selfing that caught at your throat—have you forgotten? For years you were pensive over pickled peaches—

Listen, World

I think Food is the most romantic thing. I don't know how people always insist on associating their tenderness and passion with violettes and poetry and Latin music. I don't care if heartbeats sweep far more poignantly by an olfactory vegetable soup served in a cracked brown bowl. No. I'm not joking. At the root of all human endeavor lies the memory of some honest meal, some gold-nugget.

Do you not remember, My Friend?

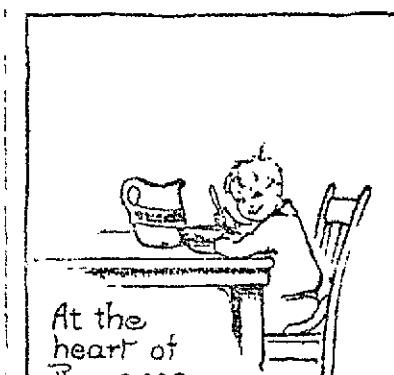

That dish of oatmeal muesli that mother used to make you reluctantly gobble up when you chased off to school?

The warm shine of those morning lightnings, the intended tubefold, the half-scales, the softness of her as you gaze your ears a load burthening while you tugged to be off adventuring.

From an opened door as you journeyed home at night? The blur of orange windows against the cold dusk stars, the sting of rain across your cheek—

The grand "boiled dinner" by the evening lamp? Remember how the old ladies hedged you in about what the whole town spoke to you with their right and simple homely words—

Just I could—just how the memory catches at your tears!

At the heart of Romance lies Food.

Holding a Husband

"This is the life," he said, smiling languidly at Lillian. "You certainly know how to live, old dear. I do not know a more comfortable menage anywhere."

"That is all because of Betty," Lillian replied, while I silently chuckled over the Machiavellian tactics I began to suspect she was using. If she could lead Dicky to think that the plan for leaving him in the apartment was due to his own initiative, things would be very much easier for us.

LILLIAN'S RUSE.

"How did you manage to keep her in?" he asked, looking slightly annoyed.

"In the first place, because she is old and used to the place."

"The old cat in the home garret," interposed Dicky.

"Exactly. In the second place, she has common sense—things almost as rare, nowadays, as the dodo, and she is a good cook. She would be most unlikely for her to find another place where she could rule the roost as absolutely as she does here, and, in the third place—"

"You raised her wages," Dicky said slyly.

"Yes, I did." Lillian returned defiantly with a laugh. "Remember how the old ladies hedged you in about what the whole town spoke to you with their right and simple homely words—

Just I could—just how the memory catches at your tears!

"Oh, yes," laughed Gacie Wiggly.

TRIBUNE CLASS A LEAGUE ORGANIZED WITH SIXTEEN CLUBS

BIG FIELD OF RUNNERS WILL START IN TRIBUNE MARATHON RACE NEXT FRIDAY MORNING

CLEAN AMATEUR SPORT, SLOGAN OF GENUINE AMATEUR PLAYERS

Greatest Pennant Races in History of Amateur Baseball Assured in Tribune Organization

By EDDIE MURPHY.

The most enthusiastic meeting of amateur ball players ever held in this city took place last night at The TRIBUNE building when the Class A division of the annual Mid-Winter League was organized with a membership of sixteen clubs. Six clubs, members of last year's league, were dropped and in the reorganization the best league emerged as a genuine amateur body composed of the best players in this district. Members of the various clubs play baseball for the sake of the game and at the meeting there was no talk regarding "cuts" or salaries. The last prop that supported professionalism in the league was knocked away and the youngsters of the sand lots were left in complete control of the situation. The TRIBUNE has offered upwards of $600 worth of trophies for the lads to compete for and the hottest pennant fights in the annals of amateur baseball on the coast are assured.

The professional element which had gradually got control of the amateur game in this city, which sought to dictate the policy of the TRIBUNE league, lost out in a battle with the men who believe in clean amateur sports. Eddie Murphy, who was led by managers who toiled all through the summer to please the local patrons of the game, while most of the management was cast aside, things are now as they were before the youngsters in place of the six clubs that were dropped six others were chosen from thirty applicants. The line-up of the Class A division and their representatives follows:

LARSON AND BORBA WILL FURNISH THE MAIN EVENT TONIGHT

JACK NEVILLE SHOOTS SOME WONDERFUL GOLF IN STATE CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNAMENT

JOHNNY NUNES ADMITS THAT LARSON CAN HIT A MAN'S SIZE PUNCH

Bat. Ortega's Manager Still Sending Telegrams; Shade Boys Are En Route to New York.

By BOB SHAND.

Battling Larson hopped from the preliminary to the main event class with one punch. Can he stay put? That's what the cash customers and gimme boys are going to find out for themselves at the Auditorium tonight when Mister Larson hooks up with Henry Borba. There are those who say Larson's punch was a fluke, that Johnny Nunes simply ran into one and was dizzy when he took the second and last wallop. Monogram Billy Murray thinks that way about it and a lot of his friends have the same notion. They want to know who Larson ever knocked out before he flattened Nunes. In refutation of the "fluke" theory one Johnny Nunes now takes the stand:

"That guy hit me so hard I thought I was going to die. He somebody smacked me with a hammer. He didn't hit me right on the jaw or I wouldn't have time to tell the tale. The punch that made me dizzy landed right on my nose, which is the luckiest thing that ever happened to little Johnny Nunes. If anybody tells you this Larson can't hit, just let him come down with him and I'll run him down. He demonstrated just once with me and that was plenty in addition to being sufficient."

Nunes Ought to Know About It.

Mr. Nunes ought to know something about it. Of course the San Leandro boy has no long string of knock-outs to his credit, but he seems to have developed a new kind of power when he got hold of his old batton Benjamin. He's hard as he hits Nunes but will knock the monogram right off his manager's socks. Borba is not going to be beaten by anyone, but he's just because his little playmate snubs him only. Borba's style, and the only style he knows, calls for an aggressive punch of campaign. He is going to walk right into Larson and start going sounds and start aiming at the bread basket. He thinks if he can plant a sufficient number of clouds in the pants of the Battler he'll bring him down to his own size and then cross him on the chin. That is supposed to be Larson's big chance—to cop Borba as he comes in. Maybe the Battler will be surprised, but he may be. Won't you can't tell.

However, no matter what happens, it should be a sensational rill. They are both willing boys with no fancy tricks, and they're not clever boxing. It will be a "FIGHT."

Gibbons Will Have Tough Fight Tonight.

Unless George Gibbons has improved the usual three hundred percent he'll be in trouble when he meets Sailor Al Batten Manager Harold Algoneron Fitzgibbon. Broom says Gibbons has improved even more than per cent, but Batten is an enthusiastic critic, and who is given to extreme optimism when chattering about his fighters. He's licked many a hard hitting skunk in his day, and he's not afraid to take on Floyd Johnson in Sacramento and bring home the bacon. Johnson does not amount to much, but he's good enough to go a weekly round with the Batten team. When he meets Sailor Al Batten Manager Harold Algoneron Fitzgibbon Broom says Gibbons will be a little more aggressive this evening and shoot in the air. He's not a fifty-five previous fight. George is a fifty-five guy. He wouldn't hit the other party to the quarrel until the party of the second part swatted him.

Are Up to Standard.

Torio Vargas and Jimmy Dunning will meet in a return match. The last time on Vargas conceded, but this time he's going to stop the little Dynamite Murphy. They seldom come back strong after getting licked.

Indians Still Fighting Hard For the Flag

Cleveland Refuses to Be Counted Out of the Pennant Race.

By HENRY L. PARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Cleveland's American league cat, which has nine or more lives, persists in coming back after every demise.

With a pitching staff reduced to a point where Tris Speaker has to call double duty in a pinch, the Indians are going along strong, the death warrant signed by New York.

Yesterday's setback of the Yankees and the Indians' victory over the Browns on the road, the Cleveland champion back on the heels of the leading New Yorkers in the hottest pennant race of years.

Speaker had a good chance to get back into the lead today, but the Yankees are playing two games with the Red Sox, the Indians have only one, and the Tigers. Detroit has been easy so far. Chicago and the Indians have won twelve out of nineteen games from them. Boston, however, has been just as easy for the Yankees, winning twenty out of seventeen games from them.

The Indians, still suffering from stomach maladies, lost more ground to the Yankees and are now a game and a half behind the lead leaders.

The New Yorkers have two games today with Philadelphia.

Based on the record for the season the Indians ought to take two more and get into the lead, as the White have been able to win only five out of thirteen games from the McGraw clan

this year.

TURKISH SPIRIT STRONG DESPITE RAGGED OUTFITS

Nationalist Soldiers Look Like Bandits, But Discipline Is As Good As Ever.

HEADQUARTERS' TURKISH NATIONALIST ARMY. Sept. 7.—The Turkish soldiers of today are dressed in the nondescript parti-colored clothes of the interior which gives any man, soldier or civilian, a ragged appearance.

"You are the only foreign correspondent to whom we have shown our army," said General Ismet Pasha to The Associated Press correspondent, "and we have shown it to you because we feel you, as an American, will understand that if we are not spick and span, at least our heart and spirit are right."

To the European eye the Nationalist army would look like a lot of bandits, but this would not be correct. There is no question of their discipline, many salutes are obeyed, their officers promptly and show no indication to interfere with strangers unless so ordered.

The Turkish soldier never complains. When there isn't enough food or water or ammunition, he doesn't grumble but merely says, "There isn't any at present." All he desires in the way of equipment is a rifle. If there aren't any enough to go around, he bides his time, saying, "I'll get one from the Greeks, Inshallah" (if it pleases God), and when he has it, he remarks: "Now I have a rifle, Mashallah" (Thank God).

DOMINO GAME LASTS 28 YEARS; GOES 10 MORE

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. Sept. 7.—Four men in this town have been playing dominoes every day for 28 years and they say it will take at least ten more years to determine which pair of them excels in the game.

George W. Cooper, who is 94 years old and never tells more than is in the news of the day, is the leader of the quartet. He always opposes Zephier M. Woodhull, 84 years old. They select their partners from the two comparative youngsters, Howard Sanford, 72, and Elsworth Benjamin, 69.

Cooper used to be a bank president and the grey-haired group gathered in his office for their game every afternoon, but business began to interfere with dominoes, so he gave up banking about ten years ago. Since then the game has gone on in the office of a mill and Cooper, who also was once a farmer and then country sheriff, takes a little time off now and then to attend the directors' meetings at the bank.

Sometimes when the younger domino players pause and argue, he says: "Come on, no stalling in this game. We haven't many more years to play."

Community Service Lectures Planned

The University of California extension division is to open a class course in community service beginning tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the Oakland health center, Thirty-first and Grove streets. The course is intended for professional and volunteer workers connected with various charitable, philanthropic and civic organizations. Dr. Carol Aronvici is to have charge.

ROTARIANS PREPARE

Final plans for the annual Rotarian picnic for the annual Rotarians, which will be held at the Boy Scout camp Friday, will be made at the luncheon of the Oakland Rotary club at the Hotel Oakland tomorrow. Members of the local organization have been invited to attend the state fair at Sacramento tomorrow. The day will be "Rotary Day."

Millions of pounds of picric acid accumulated for war will be distributed to farmers for agricultural purposes.

Lost Pages in California History

By FRANCIS CLIFF.

(This is the third installment of the story of the De Anza Expedition to California over the Colorado desert. It is taken from the newly discovered diaries of De Anza and Padre Pedro Font. In this chapter something is told of the composition of the party that braved death hundreds of times before San Francisco bay was reached. The De Anza and Font diaries throw new light on California history.)

Two views of the Pass of San Carlos. It was through this rocky gateway that Anza brought the first party of overland immigrants into the fertile fields of California. The first settlers of the San Francisco Bay region camped in this place on December 24, 1776. In one picture the old Indian trail is shown.

Armed with copies of the translated diaries, the two, accompanied by Mrs. Paden and Dr. C. W. Neff of Alameda, started out from Riverside, the last definitely known camping place of Anza and his party, to make a reverse check. Up to Hemet, the last campsite mentioned in the diary from the century and a half old description of the spots and surrounding country the two investigators were easily able to make their way.

At Hemet, however, the trail was lost and it was assumed by the two that the party came through Hemet valley, across Vaucluse Flat, and through Bear Canyon. The place is now known as described by the country "thereabouts" tallied fairly well with that made by Padre Font as regarded general directions.

One thing, however, puzzled the investigators. That was the absence of a lake mentioned by both Anza and Font. The description of the place from the Pass of San Carlos, fairly described by both as a great mass of rocks, inhabited by shift dwelling Indians, which forms the pass, and which opened out on the western slope "like the change of scene in a theater," was also sadly lacking.

PUZZLED BY FAILURE TO DISCOVER THE PASS.

Two conclusions were arrived at. One was that there was a possibility that the pass had been destroyed by an earthquake. The other was that Bancroft and the other historians were wrong and the real gateway lay somewhere else. The latter was the accepted opinion. But they put them up against the question of where the other entrance to the fertile Promised Land of the immigrants did exist.

With a packtrain verifying and discovering the other points along the Anza line of march. Both trips are to be checked up. They expect to have this work completed by mid-July.

TERrible HARDSHIPS SUFFERED ON DESERT.

Despite the fact that the generally accepted idea of a desert is a place where nothing but shifting sands and tremendous heat exists, the Anza party found it entirely different. The cold was intense. Vegetable forms were present, but they were the treacherous and thorny biendanilla, a plant which is apt to frequently complain, the dreaded cholla, and other useless forms.

The women of the party, especially, became terribly downhearted when upon reaching the crest at the Pass of San Carlos they saw the great areas of the snow-covered ridges. They came from the heat-enshrouded plains and quaked at the wildness of the surrounding country and the intense cold struck terror to their hearts.

Some of the soldiers of the party, discontented with their lot, circulated the rumors that as the party made its way northward the snow would increase and the climate grow colder until all would perish.

It took all the persuasive powers of the commander to restore the somber, normal state of mind. Some had followed storms with increasing severity and it was hard for them to accept his statement that as they approached the sea coast the snow would all disappear and that it would grow warmer until it would approach more nearly the climate of their beloved Sonora.

HORSES AND CATTLE FRANTIC FROM THIRST.

The first clue came when the investigators climbed to the summit of Lookout Mountain. This gave the two savants their first birds'-eye view of the surrounding country. Their attention turned to the Tequendama, a parallel valley to Hemet, as a possible route. Further questioning of the inhabitants disclosed the fact that there was a pass from the Colorado desert and leading from Coyote canyon, known to the old Mexican vaqueros as El Puerto, or The Gate.

Although this valley is only 10 miles from Hemet Valley, it necessitated a detour of 80 miles before the two could reach it.

Arriving at El Puerto, now known as Clark's Ranch, early in the morning, the two investigators were overjoyed to find that the approaches coincided exactly with the description of Padre Font. The great mass of rocks, so aptly described by the over-enthusiastic priest as the sweepings of the world, the pass the abondoned off-dwelling and the view of the desert in one direction, and "the change as in a theater" were all there. The true pass had been discovered.

SITE OF IGNACIO EASILY LOCATED.

The camp site, where on Christmas eve, 1775, was born Salvadore Ignacio, after whom the town of Ignacio, Marin county, is named, was easily located. Measurements were taken of the other features and found to tally exactly with the accounts of the early adventurers. The only thing missing in the lake, the feature of this feature was cleared away by Fred Clark, owner of the place, who informed them that the lake was only a wet weather feature. Padre Font had brought his party through here at the height of this season.

The two university men then continued their tramping of the trail as far as Bautista canyon. Each camp point of the party checked absolutely as to distance and description.

At the present time Dr. Bolton and for sacramental purposes. His tro

tadeau ardent on the Colorado desert was directed particularly against a large number of snakes.

He was here that the Divine Providence saw fit to bless the party by the birth of a child, later christened Salvadore Ignacio. Padre Font, according to the religiously inclined, giving assurance that Heaven's blessings were accompanying the settlers into this new land into which they were about to enter.

NO SACRAMENTAL WINE LEFT AFTER FANDANGO.

The Volstead laws or their equivalent, held no meaning for the colonists who accompanied Anza. Padre Font complained bitterly to the commander against the fandango which the people held one evening at the point of exit from the desert. In this celebration so much wine was drunk that there followed a shortage of wine to distaste and description.

At the present time Dr. Bolton and for sacramental purposes. His tro

tadeau ardent on the Colorado desert was directed particularly against a large number of snakes.

He was here that the Divine Providence saw fit to bless the party by the birth of a child, later christened Salvadore Ignacio. Padre Font, according to the religiously inclined, giving assurance that Heaven's blessings were accompanying the settlers into this new land into which they were about to enter.

Japanese of Hawaii Send Million Home

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 7.—Japanese residents of the Honolulu post office district returned $1,011,538.32 to Japan during the last fiscal year.

International postal money orders, the annual report of the postmaster here revealed, were made public recently.

This sum is an increase of $341,251.50 over the amount sent to Japan in one year with the exception of the 1917 fiscal period when $1,198,038.30 were despatched. The 1918 remittance decreased because of the sugar plantation strike in which many Japanese participated, the total that year being only $770,666.34.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS DECLINING IS WORD FROM MANY CITIES

BUSINESS and FINANCE

Conditions in California Centers Show Improvement. Reports Declare.

Unemployment is declining and public and private projects now getting under way will bring further relief, according to information of reliable sources. Present rates from cities in all sections of the country. Many cities and states have taken steps to meet the problem of the jobless and others are about to do so, following the example set by the federal government in calling an unemployment conference. Secretary of Commerce Hoover has practically completed plans for this conference, which is submitting to President Harding.

RAILROAD RECOGNITION

The State Railroad Commission is to meet again in October to consider action that will continue, according to the information gathered by the United Press.

St. Louis, Cleveland, Buffalo, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Atlanta and Pittsburgh were among the large cities which reported unemployment to be down.

PLANS OF CITIES.

One plan to take care of jobless through work on roads and on other public works.

Many cities today reported the number of jobless as estimated by officials and chambers of commerce in touch with the situation, to be far less than supposed. Paul reported between 5000 and 6000 jobless.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 7.—It is estimated by authorities here that 13,000 are jobless in this city.

SPokane, Wash., Sept. 7.—The unemployed in the city is estimated by city and federal agencies at 1500.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 7.—Lincoln's unemployed are estimated at between 900 and 1200.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 7.—More than 7000 wage earners are unemployed.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Approximately 37,000 persons are unemployed in Buffalo, which is a slight decrease since last July.

ALONG THE COAST.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 7.—Although unemployment in this city is increasing, due to an influx of idle men from the East, resident labor is being employed with little difficulty.

HANFORD, Cal., Sept. 7.—Observations in this county show more calls for men for jobs than for men, which is not unusual for this time of year.

PASADENA, Sept. 7.—The unemployment situation is not at all serious here.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—More than 10,000 former service men are still working. Five hundred and twenty-four new applications for jobs were filed with the bureau during the month of August.

PACIFIC FOOD PRICES AND WORLD'S COMMERCE

PRICES OF ONIONS ADVANCED SHARPLY BY SPECULATORS

2000 Carloads Reported Purchased at $2.25 Per Hundred; 80c Year Ago.

Operations in onions in the river areas which, taken in light of the conditions of the onion market last spring, are almost of sensational character, have for the last ten days been carried on by the leading commission houses of the country, including the ones in Oakland.

Information today was that three houses had just completed the purchase of 2000 cars of river onions at prices ranging among $1.50 and $2.25 per hundred.

The heavy buying in a moment, a speculation, but one said to be made in the belief that strong prices will prevail during the remainder of the year due to crop short-ages, was estimated to have been put up at $2.25 per hundred.

It was also a result of this over-supply that prices fell so low on oil stock last spring, that thousands of bags had to be destroyed and enormous quantities of onions practically were given away.

The heavy buying of river onions at high prices has given the bay markets a firmness of tone not known in a long time, river yellow, chiefly sought selling here at $2.75 and other varieties, ranging from $1.75 to $2.50.

Potatoes on the market here continue only less strong than onions. Prices have held firm since the recent flurry occasioned by heavy river buying, for instance, in Texas, but present a price advance of about 10 cents a bushel, a half-weight is reported up river, but the change has not caused an increase here.

Sales of tomatoes to the bay canneries began in earnest this week. Tomatoes from California, Arizona and other western areas are pouring in and today the market, heavy sales notwithstanding, faced a carry-over, in which local cannery interest was solicited. Prices of better than $2.00 a ton are expected, it is said. The market top was $1.50 a bushel.

Active trading and generally firm quotations continued to prevail here today. In the last two days the Oakland market has moved more produce than probably in any similar period of the season. Melons continue the weakest spot, although seedless grapes are now selling down to $1.30 a bushel. The market is still the buying of both of the reduced price-house fruits to be offered as high as $3.25. Fancy offerings of San Jose mangos at $1.25 attracted attention today. The boxes were the best seen here this year. Ordinary pepper offerings brought only 75 and 80 cents.

Two cars of fresh fruit delivered, one car of potatoes and one of mixed melons to the Oakland market today. A car of bananas also is expected at once.

CAFE AND SOFT DRINK LICENSE HEARING DELAYED

Council to Take Up Protests Against Proposed Revenue Measure Tomorrow.

A meeting to consider the new licensing ordinance for bakeries, restaurants and soft drink parlors will be held tomorrow afternoon in Commissioner Colbourn's office.

"I would like you to consider the part which makes every little bakery and soda shop pay set price," said the Council to operate, "said Commissioner Edwards. "We will consider the whole matter," said Colbourn. "The great trouble is that there are always objections to any licensing ordinance, on all grounds. I am trying to evolve a reasonable ordinance and I hope to get reasonable objections if there are any."

The Council gave free use of the room for the Baby hospital banner October 7-8, and gave George Hatch of the Board of Education permission to leave the state on his three-week vacation.

A protest against the opening of Bond street between Forty-second and Fremont way, was set for hearing September 23.

SHINGLES STOLEN FROM ROOF, TREE FROM LAWN

ALAMEDA, Sept. 7.—Thieves stole a tree from the lawn of Mrs. L. J. Hubbard, 2003 Central avenue, last night. The thieves dug the tree, one about six feet high, up by the roots.

J. A. Morris, 1229 College avenue, reported someone had stolen a number of shingles from his roof. The police are inclined to believe the job was the work of small boys.

Two Are Arrested on Bootlegging Charges

Joe McCarthy, owner of a soft drink parlor at 325 Clay street, was arrested by Policeman E. F. Murphy and Wallace Canning for violating the national prohibition act. They seized half a barrel of Jacques brandy as evidence they reported.

David C. Morris of 1753 Seventh street was arrested by Sergeant O. J. Watson and Policeman Dan Fleming on the same charge. Only a small amount of liquor was seized by the arresting officer.

Proposed New School Location Protested

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—Protest against the erection of a new Craig school after the incorporation of Santa Clara Road, Marin Avenue and Spruce street, was voiced at yesterday's meeting of the board of education by a delegation from the recently organized Berkeley Heights Protective association.

C. M. Fox acted as spokesman for the club committee, which includes B. H. Dinsdale, L. H. Chamberlin, W. C. T. Fletcher and others. He declared that the consensuses of opinion in the district affected was that the school should be located on the present temporary site at Euclid avenue and Regal road or as near that location as possible.

Members of the committee were assured by President W. B. Herms of the board that no decision had been made and committee of the board members will be appointed to make a thorough investigation of the situation before action is taken, Professor Herms said.

Eastbay Natural Home of Dahlia, Experts Declare as Gorgeous Bloom Show Ends

MISS EDITH KAHRIAN, a small visitor from Fresno, doing homage before a huge basket of orange-toned Dahlias which was a feature of the third annual Dahlia Show closing at Hotel Oakland yesterday. During the three-day exhibit thousands of visitors witnessed the result of the rapid development of dahlia culture in the bay cities.

Exhibition at Hotel Oakland Most Successful; Expected to Promote Culture

Dahlia culture in Alameda county has been a success, an important feature of the annual Dahlia Show sponsored by the County Floral Society, which closed a three-day exhibit in Hotel Oakland yesterday. Thousands of men and women visited the colorful display to discover that small garden spaces might easily be developed into gorgeous spots of beautiful bloom.

Thousands of flowers, ranging in color, from the smallest, demonstrated to visitors that the bay section was a dahlia center for both amateur and professional growers. Foggy days and absence of unusual heat contribute to the general development of the prize blooms, according to the authority on floral culture.

The September show, which introduced a large variety of new specimens which are destined to become world famous, is pronounced the most successful in attendance and exhibitions that has ever been opened here. Particular attention was given to the original work of local growers in establishing new forms and colors which the popular class, as well as among the larger flowers.

Artistic arrangement and combinations of dahlias was featured.

Fisher Flees To Hills to Find Quiet

Suffering from what may be termed a surfeit of fame, and of the adulation that comes with it, Harrison Fisher, famous sketch artist, has gone to the hills and woods preparatory to his departure for New York next week.

Fisher came to California for a rest, and to visit his aunt, Mrs. Wm. Behrens, 1810 Sherman street, Alameda. But his presence had hardly become known before a regular avalanche of young girls came to pose for a portrait in the quiet neighborhood. Reporters, photographers, society people, anxious to entertain him, civic bodies with invitations to luncheons and banquets followed.

It was then that Fisher called a halt, and took a picture for The Oakland TRIBUNE exclusively, also favored that newspaper with an interview, and left for the solitude of the forest and the peace of the mountain streams. But he is coming back next year, as he cannot stay away from California.

St. Mary's Will Hold Forty Hours' Devotion

The devotion of the forty hours' duration of the Blessed Sacrament, which is held annually in the Catholic churches, will begin on Friday, Admission day, at St. Mary's church, Eighth and Jefferson streets. Devotions will open at 9:30 a. m. with high mass, special music and a procession of the Blessed Sacrament, in which the children of St. Mary's schools will take part.

The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed all day Friday and Saturday for veneration by the members and friends of the church. On Friday night there will be eucharistic services, sermon and benediction, and on Saturday night the congregation will gather for an hour of prayer and meditation. Devotions will be concluded on Sunday night, with vespers, sermon, a procession of the children and benediction.

CLUB PLANS NEW WINTER PROGRAM

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—Plans for active season's work were made last night by the South Berkeley Club at a meeting in South Berkeley hall.

A committee consisting of Arthur Garcia, Albert Rich and Ralph Elliott was named to make preparations for resuming weekly luncheons of businessmen. Luncheons of this nature were held prior to the summer months and proved so successful in promoting a "get-together" spirit that it is proposed to hold similar gatherings every Monday during the coming year, the first being planned for next week.

Also as a means of promoting the same spirit, a dance and whisky party is planned for next Tuesday night in South Berkeley hall to take the place of the regular meeting of the club. Ralph J. Elliott as chairman of the committee will be assisted by Miss Lucy Ball and Mrs. R. Gorrells.

Plans are being considered by the club for the establishment of a playground adjoining the new Lincoln school. According to a tentative program the board of education will be asked to sell the present Lincoln school property and divert the funds to purchasing land adjoining the new building. The matter will come up for discussion at future meetings of the club.

UNDERWRITERS' NAME HEADS. CLEVELAND, Sept. 7.—John L. Shuff of Cincinnati was elected president of the National Association of Life Underwriters at its thirty-second annual convention here yesterday. J. R. Russell of Los Angeles was chosen secretary.

$30,000 ASKED OF OAKLAND FOR BRIDGE EXPENSE

San Francisco Proposes to Pay $120,000 as Its Share of Preliminary Costs.

Oakland's city council, is to be asked to furnish $30,000 toward preliminary costs of the bridge-the-bay project provided that San Francisco pay $120,000 for the same purpose. Decision to ask Oakland to share the expense has been made by the San Francisco board of supervisors who have instructed their Clerk to write to this city for information as to whether or not the council is willing to vote the money. In San Francisco it is hoped to add 2 cents to the tax levy to raise the sum. The tax rates have been fixed in Oakland and Alameda county.

It is probable San Francisco supervisors will insist that the additional item cannot be included in the budget there unless an equal amount is eliminated.

Berkeley Templars Will Honor White

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—In honor of William H. White of San Francisco, commander of the California Knights Templar, a dinner will be held next Monday evening at the Berkeley Masonic Temple by Berkeley Commandery No. 12. Sharing honors with White will be a representative of each of the grand officers residing in the bay region. John R. Menthrop, eminent commander of Berkeley Commandery, will preside.

The grand officers who will accompany Grand Commander White will be Judge William H. Waste, deputy grand commander; Albert E. Bryson, grand treasurer; Dr. William C. Casper, grand secretary; August J. DeLamare, grand junior warden; William D. Knights, grand treasurer; Thomas A. Davies, grand recorder; Robert B. Gaylord, grand warden; Samuel D. Mayer, grand organist, and George W. Perkins, grand captain of the guard.

Student Scholarships Will Be Advertised

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—Following a course mapped by President David Martin, in a statement that studies received as much recognition at the university as athletics, a campaign has been started to popularize scholarships.

Several thousand dollars are offered every year by private donations and by trusts to students who receive high grades in the work of their studies.

The campaign includes an allowance of money to the students to aid them in their college work, positions after graduation, and donations to allow study at foreign

Fund Is Exhausted; Ferry Service Quits

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Sept. 7.—A naval ferry service between Los Angeles and San Diego, in operation for more than a year, soon will be discontinued, according to an announcement made here. Appropriation for the service has been exhausted, navy officers at Los Angeles harbor stated.

The service was inaugurated for the convenience of men stationed at San Diego who wished to spend week-ends and holidays in Los Angeles and found trains and stages did not make trips at times which would permit the visit and return to duty on official schedule.

The vessels assigned to the ferry service hereafter will be used for naval purposes only.

Albany Tax Rate Is Slashed 5 Cents

ALBANY, Sept. 7.—The trustees cut the tax rate for the coming year five cents at last night's meeting.

The tax was set at 90 cents per $100 for the coming year, again 90 cents last year. A further slash is promised for next year when last payments will have been made on a $15,000 bond issue for fire purposes.

During the past year the city completed payments on the present city hall building and on a fire alarm system, the wiping out of this debt being partly responsible for the cutting of the rate. With the exception of Encino, Albany now claims to have the lowest tax rate in Alameda county.

BOOSTERS MAKE PLANS FOR BIG INDUSTRIAL FAIR

Co-operation Between Manufacturers Is Purpose of Exposition.

"Northern California's greatest industrial exposition" is the slogan adopted by the executive committee of the Associated Manufacturers' of the Eastbay cities, which is sponsoring the industries week and exposition to be held at Idora Park, October 1 to 9, following a luncheon meeting held at the Hotel Oakland.

During the meeting the main committee heard reports from the various sub-organizations relative to the proposed being made in disposing of exhibition space to the 1400 manufacturers in the Eastbay cities.

The principal purpose of this exposition is to eliminate all evil which many manufacturers have claimed exists in the Eastbay section—the so-called lack of cooperation between manufacturers.

The executive committee late yesterday sent letters to David E. Martin, acting county superintendent of schools in Alameda county, and William E. Hanlon, superintendent of Contra Costa schools, besides the superintendents of schools at Berkeley, Alameda, Hayward, and other cities in the two counties, inviting them to a luncheon to be held
